LINDY DISAGREES WITH STATE DEPT ON CURTIS' STORY

Colonel Asserts Disbelief That Boatbuilder Ever Had Contact, While Prosecution Contended He Did Know Kidnapers.

FLYER REAFFIRMS FAITH IN SERVANTS

Friend of Man on Trial Tells of 'Identification' of 'John' Made in New York by Defendant.

BY WILLIAM A. KENNY.
—FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 28.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, testifying today in the trial of John Hughes Curtis for obstructing justice, flatly diverged in his stated opinion from the prosecution contention the Norfolk boat builder was "in actual contact" with the kidnapers of Lindbergh's infant son.

"I don't believe Mr. Curtis ever had contact with the kidnapers," said the famous flyer.

There was a hush in the courtroom as the flyer told about learning his baby was dead.

"How did you identify the body?" he was asked.

"By the clothes and the feet," he replied, quietly. Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, fidgeted and looked down whenever the child was mentioned.

Colonel Lindbergh reaffirmed his faith in the nurse, in Ollie Wheatley, the butler, and Mrs. Wheatley, housekeeper, after electrifying the jury by saying Curtis had told him the kidnaping was arranged "through a member of his own household."

"Complete Confidence."
"We have only three servants and I have complete confidence in them," he said.

He also reaffirmed his faith in Dr. John F. (Jafise) Condon, who furnished him $50,000 of Lindbergh money to a supposed member of the kidnap gang.

The Lindbergh recital, replete with details as curious, jostling, crowded, strained to hear, seemed to bear out the line of defense it was first supposed the prosecution would take—contending that Curtis invented a fantastic tale of bogus negotiations and hindered the police search for the kidnapers by diverting attention from it.

The last-minute surprise move taken by the state yesterday, when Prosecutor Anthony W. Hauck Jr. declared the state would prove "beyond reasonable doubt" that Curtis was in actual contact with the kidnapers or their representatives, left observers with confused opinions.

The move also brought a storm of protest from the defense, who contended the defendant was not being tried for the same alleged offense which caused his arrest after he typed a confession in which he said the kidnapers in his stories were all "creatures of a distorted mind."

Shown Money.
Colonel Lindbergh testified Curtis told him he had been shown some of the money the colonel authorized Dr. John F. Condon to pay supposed kidnapers as ransom. But Colonel Lindbergh didn't see the bills.

He related how Curtis had described members of the gang in detail. But Lindbergh never saw or met them.

Curtis, too, testified that he had seen the boat on which the baby was supposed to be held captive, and its German nurse. But Colonel Lindbergh didn't see the boat.

Howell Bares Inconsistency Of Majority Rule Opponents

BY W. F. CALDWELL.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Clark Howell, editor and general manager of The Atlanta Constitution and Georgia member of the rules committee, fought to the end today for the majority rule at the national democratic convention, and when all but five states agreed to let the two-thirds rule stand for this convention he asked that his name be recorded against the traditional rule.

The rules committee met in executive session and scrapped last night's Metcalfe resolution calling for the majority rule if no presidential candidate had been chosen after six ballots. The committee recommended that the next convention adopt the majority rule.

During a vigorous protest by those favoring the majority rule in this convention, Mr. Howell challenged Judge Daniel F. Cohan, New York leader of the two-thirds rule forces, reading the minutes of the 1924 convention where Cohan had played the two-thirds rule as "antithesis of democracy."

Mr. Howell quoted from Cohan's speech eight years ago that "it is hard to find any democratic reason why this rule—a survival in the war of autocracy—should continue to control the actions and cripple the freedom of the party. The rule is an antithesis of democracy in that it makes possible a rule of a majority but of a minority. It violates the theories of Jefferson."

"It is a survival of the times when the party had ceased to be national and became sectional. It was born out of fear of the south and has been made an instrument of power for corrupting and reactionary forces that control great delegations from largely populated manufacturing states. It enables so-called leaders who represent only the powers of money and greed for office—to control the convention. It enables a clique of bosses to dominate, and places a veto power over the majority in the hands of a minority."

Mr. Howell had finished reading the quotation, which is a portion of the stenographic report of the minutes of the 1924 convention, Cohan answered that he believed the majority rule in principle but said it was not applicable to this convention.

Mr. Howell said a landslide of states back to the two-thirds rule proposition, as against their vote in last night's meeting of the rules committee, was credited by delegation members to a deliberate effort to fight for the majority rule to be abandoned.

The evidence produced by Mr. Howell came as a mild bombshell in the final meeting of the rules committee and would have served to arouse supporters of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, led by Al Smith, in discarding the rule but for the second message from the New Yorker reiterating his earlier request that the old rule be maintained.

In the face of Governor Roosevelt's stand the committee, easily dominated by his friends, decided to drop its fight for a majority rule of nomination.

Mr. Howell also reminded the committee that McAdoo, now listed as a vigorous opponent of the rules change, had also taken a different position in the past.

The fact of it is that it has come to be the biggest joke of the convention how the various presidential hopefuls, those who are playing for lightning to strike their standards out of a deadlock, are to the last man aligned with the Smith forces in the fight against abrogation.

It is a common saying among impartial observers that were the shoe on the other foot, most if not all of the favorite-sons contenders would be for abrogation. As it is they are united in a common program to make a moral issue of the question.

Governor Roosevelt, in a gesture of good sportsmanship, yielded to the clamor and asked his friends to forego the fight. As a result, what would have been the most important question of preliminary procedure passed off without a ripple of excitement. Had the fight for abrogation been pursued it would have been made perhaps in a tumultuous session.

Exposing the New York man's change of front on the question, Mr. Howell said:

"In view of Senator James A. Reed's comment on what was good enough for Jackson should be good enough for us in 1932, I wonder what he thought and felt in 1912. It is interesting and apropos to recall that but for the two-thirds rule, Champ Clark, of Senator Reed's state of Missouri, would have been nominated president at Baltimore in 1912."

"Champ Clark, in his interesting book, 'My Quarter-Century of American Politics,' calls the two-thirds rule 'antiquated, and a device.'"

"On the life of Andrew Jackson the two-thirds rule was national, but when the great controversy over slavery burst in its fury the rule became sectional, pro-slavery and anti-slavery. 'Champ Clark truly said, 'Oh, course the reason for the two-thirds rule passed away with the slavery system and should have been repealed in 1868.' Then the statesman from Missouri remarked: 'But the rule was retained and used in 1912, a half-century later, to go against the presidential nomination, notwithstanding the fact that I led on two ballots and received a clear majority on the eighth.'"

On the eleventh ballot Clark had 656 votes, a clear majority of 11. On this ballot Clark led Wilson 206 votes. Clark had a majority on the seven succeeding ballots. Clark received a popular majority of 300,000 votes in the states where he and Wilson competed in the primaries. Yet the monstrosity of the two-thirds rule not only defeated Clark but defeated the majority will of the people. The opposition to the two-thirds change at Chicago is led by Al Smith, Justice Daniel F. Cohan, of the supreme court of the state of New York, is a Catholic and of Irish ancestry, like Al Smith, and for aught I know, but I do not assert, is a member of Tammany. How interesting and apropos now to recall that preliminary to the great anti-monumental democratic convention at New York in 1924, when Al Smith made his terrific and unsuccessful fight for the presidential nomination, Justice Cohan strongly expressed his views

CONGRESS PLACES FINAL APPEAL ON ECONOMY BILL

Relief Measure, Mean- while, Is Revised To More Nearly Conform With President's Views.

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The national economy bill, badly battered through weeks of controversy, finally was approved tonight as Congress cleared one of its major preadjournment burdens.

Meanwhile, an agreement bringing the $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief bill nearer conformance with President Hoover's views was reached by senate and house conferees.

The last congressional action on the economy measure came when the senate yielded and by a vote of 35 to 11 accepted the conference report on the bill as amended by the house. It carries savings estimated at from $150,000,000 to $175,000,000.

Ready for President.

The measure probably will go to the White House tomorrow and receive President Hoover's signature in time for the beginning of the new fiscal year, Friday. As finally approved it carried the payless furlough plan for government employees, which the president sought, but carried the house provision that employees so necessary that they could not be spared from their work should take pay cuts ranging from 8-13 per cent to 20 per cent.

Despite the removal of this obstacle, however, the senate leaders were fast losing hope of an adjournment of Congress this week. Conferees on the unemployment relief bill made slow progress, and deadlocks on some of the big appropriation bills remained unbroken.

The unemployment bill conferees agreed on a $300,000,000 fund for emergency relief of the unemployed, but had not yet found compromises on the more controversial sections.

Worrying leaders more than adjournment was the fast-approaching deadline marking the end of the fiscal year, with the growing possibility that all of the funds for running the government would not be available by that time.

Postoffice Bill.

The senate today finally approved the bill on the postoffice, but the bill and sent it to conference with the house, but only two of the ten annual supply measures carrying funds for new postoffice buildings.

Two of the others, the war department and agriculture bills, were tied up in conference deadlocks.

RACING CAR KILLS VETERAN OFFICER

James M. B. Goode, 62, who for more than 20 years was a member of the United States military academy, was struck and killed on DeKalb avenue near Delta place shortly before noon Tuesday by a high-speed race car.

Goode was a member of the Harry Verner 39, of 410 Kelly street.

Verner, who, police say, sped away from the scene of the accident and who later was surrounded by police by his attorney, W. Paul Carpenter, is at liberty on $2,000 bond, charged with speeding, reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

When he was brought to police station several hours after the fatal accident, Verner declined to make a statement, referring inquiries to his attorney, Mr. Carpenter.

The tragedy was the result of an unavoidable accident, claiming that the elderly policeman had dropped his hat in the middle of DeKalb avenue and had stooped over to retrieve it while the racing automobile was speeding towards him.

So terrible was the impact that the victim was knocked almost entirely out of his clothing, and the front of the automobile was badly battered. Goode was pronounced dead upon the arrival of a Grady hospital ambulance.

Funeral services for the dead officer will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Epworth Methodist church at Conyers, Ga. Burial will be in the family lot in the churchyard of Conyers.

Goode was one of the most popular members of the police department. Chief T. O. Sturdivant Tuesday afternoon said his death was a great shock to members of the force and was a distinct loss to the department. The officer was assigned to station house

PROHIBITION ISSUE TO PROVIDE FIGHT ON FLOOR TODAY

W. Z. Foster, Candidate Of 'Reds', Is Arrested

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—(AP)—Hardened from the tonnage of an automobile as he stood to address a throng in the Plaza, William Z. Foster, leader and presidential candidate of the communist party in the United States, was arrested here today as police bombed a milling crowd with tear gas.

Five other men who attempted to promulgate their leader's cause in the clash with the police red squad were clapped into jail as promptly and three young women who stayed behind to cheer the protesting officers joined them. The crowd dispersed.

The arrest of Foster occurred as nearly 4,000 persons, swarming about the Plaza, which is located in the older downtown section, watched with laughter and boos. The communist leader was booked on suspicion of criminal syndicalism.

All of these things were done by the power trust to justify itself and subsidiary companies for the high price of electricity charged consumers.

ROOSEVELT TO GET TAMMANY VOTES 'IN FEW BALLOTS'

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.
CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—The Tammany Tiger, still officially sitting on the fence, cast its eyes tonight toward the Roosevelt camp.

John F. Curry, the chief of the New York city democratic organization, announced postponement of a New York state caucus called for tonight to discuss whether it would favor for the presidency.

Instead, a number of informal private conferences were held. Curry himself, the silent sphinx of New York politics, who holds command over more than 50 convention votes, would not reveal in any way his attitude toward any of the candidates.

But intimations of Tammany's present attitude came from several of those who had talked with him.

"It looks now as if Roosevelt would be nominated within a few ballots," said one of Curry's lieutenants and consultants.

Other Tammany leaders said they had urged Curry to have the organization cast a complimentary vote on

Sholtz Leads Martin, 2 to 1, in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 28.—(AP)—Holding the counties in which he showed greatest strength in the first primary, and cutting heavily into his opponent's previous territory, Dave Sholtz, of Daytona Beach, tonight was better than 2 to 1 ahead of John W. Martin, of Jacksonville, in the democratic gubernatorial race.

The vote from 129 precincts gave Martin 5,255; Sholtz 11,736.

Dade county, which gave Martin a clear margin in the first primary, hopped heavily onto Sholtz' bandwagon as eight precincts out of 73 gave the Daytona man 2,048 votes to 741 for Martin.

Sholtz held to his strength in Duval and Pinellas counties, and was running 2 to 1 ahead in Hillsborough county, which was strong for Cary A. Hardee in the first primary.

W. J. Sears, of Jacksonville, seeking election as congressman-at-large, was slightly ahead of Mayor John T. Alsop, of Jacksonville. The vote in 77 precincts reported was Alsop 2,450; Sears 2,580.

LONG AND HOIDALE WIN FOR GOVERNOR IN VOTE CONTESTS

Montana Senator Chosen to Lead Convention Over Opposition of Shouse by Ballot of 626 to 528 With Roosevelt Lines Solid.

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY.
CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Three times a Roosevelt hurricane smashed the opposition in today's intense session of the democratic convention, elevating Senator Walsh of Montana to the permanent chairmanship, settling in its own way the two delegation contests and in general hurrying on with an enthusiasm generated for a supreme effort to capture the presidential nomination by a two-thirds majority.

But the majorities in every instance were more than a hundred short of the 770 that will be required to nominate, the attempt to allow leeway for a simple majority nomination having been given up finally by all hands.

Ending the six-hour meeting, the convention specifically adopted the 100-year-old rule.

Welcomed by an uproarious Rooseveltian procession that twisted in both directions through the congested aisles, and with cheers that drowned some few shouted denunciations, Senator Walsh was given a 626 to 528 margin.

Shouse took his defeat with a smile.

"There can be no doubt in anybody's mind that Senator Walsh will preside with evident fairness and satisfaction over the convention. I want to thank my friends for their generous support and the efforts they made on my behalf."

In the other two roll calls, the Rooseveltian flock seated the Senator Huey Long delegation from Louisiana by 638 3-4 to 514 1-2, and the Minneapottans led by Einar Holde on a count of 658 1-2 against 492 3-4.

Although the delegates showed confidence all along, partisans of the New York governor held their breath just the same during the first and at times disorderly calls of the roll in the Louisiana contest, one of those opposing him today in favor of Jonett Shouse was the nominee of that convention—John W. Davis, of New York.

Walsh Wins High Praise For Power Trust Probe

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Vigorous prosecution of "power trust activities" by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, was declared today by Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, to have been one of the great services rendered in the interests of the nation.

Senator Dill made the statement in a speech supporting Walsh for permanent chairman of the national democratic convention.

"Senator Walsh fathered the resolution in the senate," Dill said, "leading to a power investigation that unearthed the most colossal scheme of watering stocks, of poisoning sources of public information and of destroying confidence generally. This activity of the power companies constituted one of the most corruptible events in the history of the country."

George W. Walker Crushed to Death COMMENTS SUICIDE

Charles P. Brady, for a quarter of a century one of the most popular personalities in the clothing field in Atlanta, died Tuesday morning at his home, 134 Huntington road, N. E., as the result of a bullet wound self-inflicted. Members of his family said he had brooded continuously over the drowning of his eight-year-old son two years ago.

For the last 20 years manager of the shoe department of George W. Walker Clothing Company, Mr. Brady was 48 years of age. During his many years with the company he had won a host of friends, and was especially loved by the children of the company. His long years of service in the shoe department had made him one of the best known figures in the clothing field in this part of the city.

Mr. Brady's body was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

RULE MOVE STIRS ROOSEVELT FOES

Favorite-Son Groups Are Thrown Into Consternation by Action.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
CHICAGO STADIUM, June 28.—By wiring his leaders here to abandon their fight for adoption of a majority rule of nomination as a substitute for the century-old two-thirds democratic tradition, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt threw consternation into the ranks of the favorite son contenders who are bent on blocking his nomination for the presidency.

Unprepared for the sudden move, the stop Roosevelt group, headed by the past nominee of the party, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, were left temporarily disorganized. Ever since the initial caucus of Roosevelt leaders last week, resulting in the announcement of the group's determination to abrogate the ancient rule, the defeatist group has concentrated on the opposition to the move among individual delegations, hoping this to raise an issue which would cut into the Roosevelt strength. Roosevelt strategists, sensing the designs of their opponents in the face of defections in such favorable delegations as North Carolina, Mississippi and Indiana, outmaneuvered the group by urging Governor Roosevelt to transmit his recommendation on the question to the convention immediately.

The effect of the governor's statement was to leave the defeatist bloc up in the air, and, equally important, to open the way for certain of the favorite-son delegations, now listed in the doubtful column, to turn to his candidacy.

Aides Disappointed.
It is only fair to say that some of the Roosevelt delegates were disappointed at the calling off of the fight on the two-thirds rule, believing that the present situation offers the most opportune time for its abandonment, but they were quick to realize that the possible gains in sight were more than enough to offset the sacrifice.

The anti-Roosevelt people, of course, sought to read into the governor's statement an admission of defeat. It speaks for itself, however, that his managers here would never have consented to the step if they had any doubt of his ability to poll the necessary two-thirds majority.

Even defeat in the move to abandon the rule would not have been considered anything more than a tactical victory for the opposition, though the opposition undoubtedly would have pretended to give it a graver interpretation.

The only danger at all involved was that some of the delegates now in the doubtful column and yet friendly disposed to the New Yorker's candidacy might have been antagonized by the coup.

Governor Roosevelt's magnanimous gesture in conceding their point that there might be something in the argument against "changing the rules in the middle of the game" is designed only to make friends of potential enemies by the move. Instead, by his extreme fairness he has cast his candidacy in a more favorable light.

The confidence of the Roosevelt people in ultimate victory is attested in no better way than their unwillingness thus far to enter into negotiations looking to the commitment of certain of the favorite-son delegations to his name. Overtures already have been made by enough of these delegates to put him over on the first ballot. All sorts of proposals have been presented, but so far as known, all have been laid aside.

May Make Bargain.
By way of showing their mastery over the situation, one of the leading Roosevelt workers asserted privately tonight that he was in position to make a bargain in short order that would result in more than enough votes to insure a first-ballot nomination. Perhaps if it should become necessary to do that the bargaining will come. At the moment the Roosevelt board of strategy doesn't consider such tactics necessary.

Where are the favorite-son delegates going except to Roosevelt with their obligation to be discharged with a round of two or three ballots? The question is being asked. All of the ballyhoo of the Smith die-hards, as reflected in the interparty attack by the unsavory democratic boss of New Jersey, Frank Hague, has only had the effect of casting Roosevelt's followers into a more cohesive organization. His supporters seem prepared to stand through another siege of 100 ballots, repeating the unprecedented performance at the famous Madison Square Garden convention at New York city eight years ago, if that should be necessary for victory. But it will not, according to the all but universal judgment of the best minds of the conclave, both sides included.

Uppmost in the minds of the rank and file of democrats assembled here was the one thought of victory this year. Without unity of action and avoidance of personal issues, they realize that the expected victory will be jeopardized. Consequently there is a sobering influence which, it is confidently believed, will result in quick and harmonious action on the presidential candidate as a result of the harmonious as things democratic may be expected to develop.

Spurred on by this feeling, the rumble of the Roosevelt delegates as they heard moving steadily forward down Michigan avenue toward the stadium, where it is expected to pull up at the head of the big parade Thursday when the balloting on a presidential nominee begins.

MRS. STELLA HAMLIN FLAYS LONG'S TACTICS
CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Stella Hamlin, who led a feminine anti-Kingfisher fight against Huey Long's delegation to the democratic convention, accepted defeat today, saying, "I feel like I ought to run for governor or senator; the publicity he gave me warrants it."

Long had sent her to the convention a letter from Mrs. Hamlin, outgoing Louisiana committeewoman, complimenting her successor, Mrs. Emily Bievener.

"He had no right to do that," Mrs. Hamlin charged, "because it was a personal letter written at Mrs. Bievener's request." In order that she could obtain funds from jobholders and come to the convention, I'm surprised that she gave it up."

Threatening the Kingfisher—who last night declared feminine opposition to his group was a result of Mrs. Hamlin's working against him—the pretty young committeewoman smiled icily. She said seriously, "I'm far from through with politics."

She said the Long delegation had offered her a place as delegate with them, through Mayor Walmley, of New Orleans.

"Listen, this is not a personal fight with me," she added. "It's a matter of principle. I want my state to be allowed recognition for delegates chosen in the recognized customary way. I did not seek to succeed myself as committeewoman and I turned down the office of being a delegate. I defy him (Long) to prove that the people had any recourse in the courts to his illegal method of choosing his delegation."

"Well, he used to tell me, 'When you tell a story, tell a big one.' His reading of that letter was an attempt to embarrass me—but that's impossible. I'm glad it happened now because from now on he'll have to give women more recognition."

Mrs. Hamlin contended in her campaigning that the Kingfisher is against non-rubber-stamp women in politics. She said the feud between them is three years old—and she declined to explain it.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of a republican president and widow of a republican speaker of the house, came to see the democratic national convention at Chicago. Dressed in a cool summer silk print frock, Mrs. Longworth reiterated to a newspaperman her oft-repeated "Of course, I never grant interviews," but generously added:

"Obviously, I am here to see the show. I've been going to conventions, both republican and democratic, for more than 25 years."

CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, June 28.—(UP)—The democratic convention may be the greatest gathering in the world to some folks, but ask Sam Hightower and he'll tell you it "ain't in there at all with them Shriners, Elks, Knights of Pythians and them Woodmen of the World."

Sam Hightower is the novelty and souvenir hawk who booth stands just outside the main entrance to the auditorium in which the delegates are gathered. He has been there since the first of the delegates from Iowa were only just now cracking one another's skulls in an effort to seat and unseat Huey Long.

As a matter of fact, it was while in search of some one who could explain why Iowa should care whether Huey Long got a seat or had to stand up, that he happened into Sam and got to talking about his business. Or rather, his lack of business.

"If things don't pick up tomorrow," said Sam after bumping a cigarette, "I'm going to scam out of this place and go back to my corn salve and pocket knives. They go right good out in this section. But this place—phooey! I been here two days now and I got just what I started off with, except that water color picture of Alfalfa Bill which somebody stole off me."

"You know I can't figure these democrats out. I thought the republicans were tight, but these democrats got in the courts to his illegal method of choosing his delegation."

"Well, he used to tell me, 'When you tell a story, tell a big one.' His reading of that letter was an attempt to embarrass me—but that's impossible. I'm glad it happened now because from now on he'll have to give women more recognition."

LAUSANNE PARLEY PROVES FAILURE

Germany and France Are Still Far Apart on Reparations Future.

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 28.—(AP)—Every effort to bring about a Franco-German reparations agreement failed today and the international statesmen who gathered here in a spirit of hope two weeks ago prepared to give the Lausanne conference a decent burial.

Unless there is an unforeseen change of front overnight, the six leading powers will meet tomorrow to prepare for adjournment.

In the fall another attempt will be made to compose the reparations conflict at another international conference.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, made almost superhuman efforts to bring about an agreement between Premier Edouard Herriot of France, who insisted that reparations must not be cancelled, and Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, who insisted that they must.

Mr. MacDonald remained "soberly hopeful" of reconciliation by the Berlin and Paris governments, he said tonight.

The negotiations got nowhere. Both the French and German representatives were fearful of the political effect back home of any disposition to give in, although Mr. MacDonald argued that unless they got together the conference necessarily must fail.

The six powers participating in tomorrow's meeting are Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan. Mr. MacDonald is expected to deliver the funeral oration of the conference at that time.

The Germans demanded uncanceled cancellation of the French claim to reparations today, withdrawing the idea of economic compensation and a common cash box into which Germany would pay sums when she was financially able.

Premier Herriot told the press that France was willing to cede her rights to reparations for economic advantages and in the interest of peace and security, but it was evident that Chancellor von Papen since Sunday, when he conferred with his cabinet in Berlin, was unable to accept anything but out-and-out cancellation.

LAUSANNE PARLEY PROVES FAILURE

Germany and France Are Still Far Apart on Reparations Future.

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 28.—(AP)—Every effort to bring about a Franco-German reparations agreement failed today and the international statesmen who gathered here in a spirit of hope two weeks ago prepared to give the Lausanne conference a decent burial.

Unless there is an unforeseen change of front overnight, the six leading powers will meet tomorrow to prepare for adjournment.

In the fall another attempt will be made to compose the reparations conflict at another international conference.

Long Hits Leadership Of Senator Robinson

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Senator Long, of Louisiana, carried before the democratic platform committee tonight his fight against the senatorial leadership of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, for a redistribution of wealth.

Through Mayor T. S. Walmley, of New Orleans, Long, who had criticized in the senate Senator Robinson's law firm connections, presented to the platform framers a proposal pledging the party to "have a leadership in congress in the hands of persons not privately or professionally obligated to interests inimical to the welfare of the general public."

Asked if this was directed at Senator Robinson, Long said: "If the cap fits him, let him wear it."

High Notes Of Convention
By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Alfred E. Smith likes hot dogs and lunched on them today during the democratic convention.

The former New York governor and presidential candidate went with Representative O'Connor, of New York, to a hog dog stand in the rear of the stadium.

"I want a hot doggie," he told the man behind the counter. "I like them."

Mrs. Josephine Daniels—who represented the United States at an International Suffrage Alliance meeting in 1920—still thinks the wives of public men "are like Halloween pumpkins."

"They have eyes and ears," she said, "but if they have any opinions they have to be like the candle sending its light through the pumpkin. If they say anything, everybody thinks it's the husband's idea."

The only known woman penitentiary warden put her own work forward today to demonstrate that "Alfalfa Bill" Murray has no prejudice against women in office.

Mrs. George A. Waters, warden of the Missouri state reformatory, campaigned for her governor along the aisles of the democratic convention floor.

"I kept me in office long enough to find out," she said, "and when I saw I could deliver—well, I'm there yet. There's been some talk about his having a prejudice against women; this proves it's a lie."

Reporting a $10,000 profit last year from the prison farm, Mrs. Waters said she buys the machinery, closely supervises quarry, even oversees the prisoners' shoemaking.

"I got my training in my home," she added.

At 42, she has two grown sons, and works 8 to 14 hours a day, besides being on call all the time.

Convention Sidelights
By the United Press.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The democrats did a better cash ticket business today. Nearly all the pay seats were filled by customers who came expecting a bitter floor fight.

Senator Huey Long, of Louisiana, celebrated the sealing of his contested delegation by climbing onto a chair and leading a cheer. Long wore his spotless white suit again today, but abandoned his pink necktie in favor of a more conservative color.

"Maryland, My Maryland," theme song for the presidential campaign of Governor Albert C. Ritchie, and Al Smith's "Sidewalks of New York" drew prolonged applause from the crowd—the galleries providing a large share of the noise.

The convention was delayed for more than an hour today by late-arriving delegates who preferred to

Louisiana Beats Ban On Women's Smoking

BATON ROUGE, La., June 28. (AP)—The bill of Representative J. W. Fordyce, New Orleans, to prohibit women smoking in any motor vehicle or public place has been defeated, 53 to 39, by the house of representatives of the state legislature.

"Just the other day I heard of a woman who was holding a cigarette in one hand and driving her car into a post and nearly killed her mother," Fordyce said before the vote.

Frequent laughter interrupted the representative. W. J. B. Chandler, Caddo, proposed an amendment to prohibit pipes and cigars. He said "this wife had told him to get up and say something or else."

Fordyce said he would accept the Chandler amendment, but the house rejected it.

Hyatt, it was said, Judge Wood was informed that the seller called at the capitol, claimed that the tags had been lost, and obtained a new set for another car by paying $1 for duplicate tags.

The hangar was moved from its old location to make way for the newly-erected administration building. Fulton county will furnish the labor for the work, with the municipality furnishing the materials.

Demurrer of Durrelle Cheney, administrative assistant of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, to a $50,000 damage suit filed by John B. Postmaster-General Brown's demurrer remains to be heard, it was said.

National Construction Company Tuesday was sued for $8,881.06, claimed as damages to the Princeton hotel because of blasting in the work

Judge Luther Z. Rosser, of municipal court of Atlanta, Tuesday dismissed a cheating and swindling charge brought against W. S. McLeod, of 673 Kennesaw avenue, N. E., by R. A. Clark, of 874 Boulevard, N. E. Judge Rosser pointed out that testimony showed that malt extract bought with $200 invested in a partnership by Clark was to be sold as the chief ingredient of home brew, and that home brew ingredients cannot be made the basis of a suit between partners.

Clark denied knowledge of any intent to sell the malt for use in manufacture of home brew.

Welfare Men Meet Again Today To Seek Aid for 20,000 Destitute

As the second week of the closing of relief headquarters opened Tuesday morning, no hope for the restoration of county funds was seen. The appropriation voted by the county commissioners was withdrawn from the budget, necessitating the close of relief work.

OIL FUMES IN THEATER DRIVE PATRONS TO OPEN

Fumes from a burning container of oil and sulphur, placed by unidentified persons near a ventilator fan in the rear of the Palace theater at Little Five Points, caused a momentary disturbance at the community theater Tuesday night.

A number of patrons rushed out of the place, but no one suffered any ill effects. Patrolman W. D. Nash discovered the container and extinguished it.

FATAL EXPLOSION LAID TO GAS POCKET

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 2. (AP)—The million-dollar state office building explosion in April, when 10 workmen met death, was caused by an "accumulation of gas under the lower part of the structure," a special investigating committee reported to Governor George White today.

Fire Calls.

The following alarms were reported by the fire department Tuesday:

7:40 A. M.—175 Spring street, warehouse. Leaking ammonia tank. Firemen donned masks and stopped leak. No damage.

10:57 A. M.—Rear 39 Houston street, N. E., tar kettle overturned. No damage.

12:17 P. M.—48 Pryor street, chicken hatchery. Trash burning. No damage.

4:00 P. M.—Cascadia road and Rogers drive, false alarm.

4:02 P. M.—Rear 647 Cresthill street, N. E., children's playhouse. Carelessness with matches. Small damage.

5:15 P. M.—Lee street and Oak, car. Carburetor trouble. Slight damage.

8:25 P. M.—Argonne avenue and Sixth street, false alarm.

the plight of more than 15 families in the Piedmont Mill village at Egan Park, the members of which subsist on tragically inadequate food.

"There are no words which will accurately portray the tragic existence of these people," one worker said, "and unless funds are found to carry on relief work their lot will be certain doom."

"They have banded together in a common group in the face of hunger and destitution. The total income of the group is less than $10 weekly. Their undernourished condition has so lowered their morale that little energy could be spent even if there were jobs for them."

The relief workers said that such conditions were general all over the county. At least 20,000 people face literal starvation, they said, unless immediate relief is forthcoming.

Among the lists of unemployed from which the workers have directed efforts are carpenters, brick masons, painters, mechanics—in fact, all the many of them formerly were carpenters, trades and crafts are represented, and substantial citizens who contributed generously to welfare groups before they lost their jobs.

Look at what happened when America began lifting hoods and counting cylinders: Overwhelming preference for "SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less." A sweeping endorsement of the soundness and correctness of the Chevrolet six-cylinder engine!

America knows its motor cars. And America knows you can't get around these facts about cylinders in a low-priced car: That six is the largest number you can have and still get unexcelled economy! That six is the fewest you can have and still get built-in smoothness! And who wants to sacrifice either of these great factors of motoring satisfaction?

America prefers the Chevrolet Six—because it strikes a happy medium between two extremes. It gives economy—the lowest operating and upkeep cost of any American car, as proved by the experience of tens of thousands of owners! It gives smoothness—the built-in smoothness that makes driving really comfortable, effortless, enjoyable! And it gives many other advantages just as essential and important as six cylinders. Advantages that no other low-priced car can match.

Fisher bodies—big, spacious, luxurious Fisher bodies—styled in the latest custom mode, built solidly and ruggedly to give long service!

That matchless combination—Free Wheeling and Syncro-Mesh—for quick, quiet, effortless shifting and positive car control.

A dependable chassis, whose basic design has been proved in the hands of millions of satisfied owners.

Such features of riding-comfort as four parallel-mounted springs, four hydraulic shock absorbers, adequate weight and correct balance!

And new reduced prices—as much as $50 and $55 lower than they were before!

Chevrolet is able to give this value, because Chevrolet is the world's largest producer of motor cars. Largest for three out of the past five years! Largest for the first six months of 1932! First in value—First in sales!

WALSH ELECTED CONVENTION HEAD

Roosevelt Forces Sweep to Three Successive Floor Triumphs.

to Walsh, the celebrated lawyer like- wise praised the service Shouse has done the party in his post as executive director, referred to the agreement which his supporters had entered into on behalf of Roosevelt for his selection as chairman—but which the governor has de- nied—and asked if it was not proper for the office at stake should not properly be his as a reward.

Dill Lauds Shouse.
In answer, Senator Dill, of Wash- ington, paid high respects to Shouse but called the question one between "a man of ability and personality" and one "long experienced in the con- vention affairs of the party."

At one or two points, as Dill argued briefly, he was interrupted by loud "boos" that seemed to come mainly from the galleries. He paused un- notting, and then went quietly on, to be given a momentary ovation that paralleled the one given Davis in his midship.

Then the roll began, amidst some disorder as one or two delegations engaged in controversies as to the accuracy of the vote given for them. Pencils quivered all over the filled stadium in trying to keep up with the tally—and the outcome was uncer- tain as usual until the very end.

In contrast with the fever of watch- fulness which marked those three stirring ballots, when the rules com- mittee report came up at the last minute—formally closing the two- thirds rule dispute that has raged day in and day out through indorse- ment of the party—little if any at- tention did it get. Very few of those on hand seemed aware of what was going on, the report being ac- cepted with the barest ripple of no- tice.

Tension Broken.
The tension so evident through the arguments on the chairmanship and the contests broke when that final vote was over.

As Senator Barkley—the tempo- rary chairman—rotated the result, a flurry of applause started far back among the outlying delegations. Some- body pulled the Montana standard over Senator Walsh's head from its place and set off down the aisle. At once all the standards of states which participated in putting the Montana in power over the convention joined in, and the march jostled and pushed its way under the flooding picture light.

The organ and band alternated in helping things along a bit, but there was no battle hymn to give special thrill. Even when the music stopped, the paraders kept on, cheering and yelling.

Down through the center of the hall, a solid block of delegates from New York, Massachusetts, California, Ohio and Texas stuck to their seats look- ing on. A standard guard clung to each state sign, but they were not needed.

Outburst Subsides.
Senator Barkley began pounding for order after a few minutes. The up- roar subsided, and the delegates, after another minute or two Senator Walsh was escorted to the platform to re- ceive generous applause from all over the floor.

Senator Walsh, in a brief prepared address that he read in his usual pro- fessional manner, reminded the party of its duties and asked that the republican convention be held in the year 1936, and that the party be given free rein to the captains of industry and magnates in the field of finance, and accommodating govern- ment to their whims and caprices.

"From every section of the country an aroused and wrathful people de- mand a new deal," he declared, to the delight of the delegates. "As for the closing on a note asking harmony, he appealed:

"A great opportunity as well as a great responsibility is before us, an opportunity for service as rare as the occasion is extraordinary. Let us proceed to the task to which we are called patriotically, and with the same spirit, mindful always of the truth that he serves his party best who serves his country."

Prohibition Fight.
There is the probability of another dispute on pro and anti-Roosevelt lines, over prohibition. The commit- tee dominated by his supporters wants to hold the party to promising sub- mission of a repeal amendment, but Alfred E. Smith and other leaders in the eastern delegation are determined to pledge the party as favoring repeal, if possible.

By unanimous consent debate on the chairmanship was limited to one hour, equally divided, and Senator Clarence C. Dill, of Washington state, opened the argument for Senator Walsh.

"This is not a contest between in- dividuals," he said. "The proposal of the committee majority is to recog- nize one of the long-time leaders of the seigniorate party by making him chair- man."

Walsh has been a tower of strength in the senate for more than 20 years. Mr. Rusk spoke yesterday of the exposure of the Teapot Dome scandal, and the Grundy tariff scandal. I want to remind you that Tom Walsh did both of those jobs.

Senator Dill, that not yet Al- bert Fall, Harry Sinclair, or any other defendant ever said Walsh was ever unfair.

"I ask you now, shall the delegates to this convention turn him down?" asked Dill.

A loud and long chorus of "noes" answered from the convention floor. Mrs. Bernice S. Pike, national com- mitteewoman from Ohio, took up the argument for Shouse.

Caucus Held.
"I was a member of the arrange- ments committee which sat in Chi- cago in April, 1932, and made ar- rangements for this convention," she said. "When it was time for de- cision on permanent chairman, the names of Shouse and Barkley were presented. We, upon the advice of Shouse and the committee, adjourned and a caucus was held to bring out a uniform report."

"We decided we would not bring a fight upon the floor of this convention. We asked a candidate for presi- dent whom he would choose, and he approved the names of Senator Bark- ley for temporary chairman, and Mr. Shouse for permanent chairman."

The delegates recognized that she was referring to Franklin D. Roose- velt, repeatedly charged by Shouse supporters with having given Shouse his support, and then having with- drawn it.

"She then read the report of the minutes of the arrangements committee meeting, made public several days ago by Shouse. The resolution which she said had been read to Roosevelt over the telephone, and approved by him, recommending the delegation for the chairmanship."

"I ask you in the interests of fair- play that we recognize that those recommendations should be followed," she concluded, and the Shouse fol- lowers gave her a cheer.

Congressional Record Closed to Barkley

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(P)—The keynote speech of Sen- ator Allen W. Barkley, of Ken- tucky, at the democratic national convention was held to be too long for printing in the Congressional Record today.

When Representative John J. Cochran, democrat, Missouri, asked that it be printed under unanimous consent rules, Representative Charles L. Underhill, republican, Massachusetts, objected. "It's too long," he told Cochran later.

Underhill had withdrawn an objection to the printing of a speech by President Hoover, offered by Representative Oscar D. Priest, Strengthened when Cochran offered the Barkley speech for printing.

Bynes, of South Carolina, began by declaring no man had rendered better service to the country during the past 30 years.

Referring to the workings of the committee to which Mrs. Pike had al- luded, Bynes said that never before had a subcommittee of the national committee sought to dictate to the national convention. Shouse, he recalled, was chairman of that sub- committee. "I believe it is the policy," he said, "of having a chairman of a subcom- mittee select officers for the convention and then of having him select himself as permanent chairman."

The South Carolina senator read a statement by Robert Jackson, sec- retary of the national committee, who had made the motion for Mrs. Pike. Jackson's statement said that when the proposal to name Shouse perma- nent chairman was read to Roosevelt over the telephone, the New York gov- ernor declared the subcommittee had no authority in the matter.

"I believe that if Roosevelt could speak to you he would say this— 'matter for you to determine,'" said Bynes.

As a rising ovation swept the hall, John W. Davis, the party nominee of eight years ago, answered for Shouse.

Call for Convention.
"In April last," said Davis, "when the newspapers carried to us dem- ocrats the plans for this assembly, to name the next president of the United States was rejected by the news given out by the authorities who met to prepare the way for this convention of the harmonious work of the ar- rangements committee."

"That unanimity not only existed in the committee, but extended through the ranks of democracy. We re- membered the names of the men who were the man for the three long years had been the St. Paul of democracy."

"You have before you the names of two distinguished gentlemen. No man has greater admiration than I for the character and ability of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana. . . .

"I am not unmindful of the record of Senator Walsh and the service he rendered in the convention of 1924. As chairman of that convention, he wielded the gavel longer than any man had ever done before."

"Mr. Shouse has given himself for three years without stint to the democratic party. . . .

"In what manner shall the dem- ocratic party reward this service? What have we to bestow? We are offered the opportunity to give him the distinction of being this con- vention's presiding officer."

Louisiana Contest.
Until almost the very end of the poll in the Louisiana contest, either side appeared to have a chance. So close did it stand that the Iowa de- legation, which had been passed because of confusion, there, verged on first fights after the announcement of its poll had been made by Frank O'Connor, of Dubuque.

Edward Dunn, of Mason City, and E. H. Diamond, of Sheldon, Iowa, de- clared a poll by Senator Barkley—who was presiding—denying the 25 votes belonged in the column against the Long delegation.

But Pennsylvania, which also had deferred giving its vote pending a poll, finally was ready and put the Roose- velt side generously over the 51-20 to 20-12.

Immediately the Roosevelt sup- porters jumped into a gleeful shout. Many of them had been in the Long cam- paign showing the margin slim as state after state shouted its vote; and now for a minute or two they let out their pent-up emotions.

Senator Long was the center, ges- ticulating happily as he stood on his chair in the Louisiana section.

"In much different manner," he had presented his case. Although he held his arms akimbo and shouted in his sensational campaign style once or twice, in the main he talked with dig- nity of the laws and rules which he insisted justified throwing down the minority report of the credentials com- mittee.

Long Denounced.
Scott W. Lucas, of Havana, Ill., argued for the contesting delegation headed by former Governor J. Y. Brown, of Louisiana. Although he was a "dictatorial, illegal and unwar- ranted conflict with constitutional processes. His powerful voice held the delegates in silence. "Now let me tell you the true story," he added.

"This is a question whether you want only a few more votes in the Louisiana ballots in November," he explained the delegates had been chosen already in similar manner to his de- legation.

Minutes later the convention gave its answer, then proceeded to dispose of John S. Hunter, of Manchester, N. H., chairman of the credentials committee, started the big deigns with submission of the report favoring Long and the Minnesota group headed by Edgar A. Snodgrass, of Minneapolis, the leader of the Minnesota con- testants who favored Al E. Smith.

Alfred N. Phillips, of Stamford, Conn., sporting an Al Smith badge, presented the case for Reagan—in- stituting the Holders had not been chosen according to law. He said it was obvious that if the chairman of a state convention had the power to throw the state convention, he can over- ride the will of the people. It is ad- mitted that this state central com- mittee was composed of 140 delegates, it was secretly increased to 260 mem- bers."

But the Roosevelt majority elected heartily to disagree with him, and then adjourned.

In general, for all the moments of excitement and tension, the first hours of today's meeting were what- ers of fact by comparison with what was a gathering of delegates ex- pect to come when the nominating and balloting on a nominee gets under way tomorrow and Thursday.

The intense interest in work, de- spite the reports of sentiment for fa- vorite sons cracking under the im- pressure of the Roosevelt majority, showed themselves in the morning when Mrs. Pike's Maryland came forth from the huge pipe organ before Sen- ator Barkley could get the convention in order.

The handsome Maryland governor met the cheers for his "win with Ritchie" slogans that began to wave by standing on his chair, to wave his straw sailor hat to and fro greet- ing his friends.

"Sidewalks of New York."
Then the "Sidewalks of New York" within a matter of seconds lifted the Massachusetts, Rhode Is- land, Connecticut and New York dele- gations—to join the prancing Mary- landers. Then for Al Smith roared forth from those combinations of dele- gates, while the rest of the hall sat watching quietly.

SMITH BARS WAY OF FAVORITE SONS

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.
(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Publishing Co.)

CHICAGO, June 28.—As Chair- man Walsh's gavel fell at the ad- journment of the second day's ses- sion of the democratic national con- vention it became evident that the presidential candidacy of Alfred Emanuel Smith, a small candidacy with less than 150 votes, stands be- hind some state's favorite son and a possible nomination. So long as Smith stays in the race, even poten- tially, the Roosevelt bloc, lacking a little over 100 votes of the com- mittee majority, will stand indolently, for Roosevelt's vote, as it de- veloped after three ballots in today's convention, is obviously a vote of the rural democracy.

The anti-Roosevelt vote came for the most part from the great indus- trial centers with their cities, and from California, Texas, and Okla- homa, and the industrial states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. These states probably contain a majority of the people of the United States, but the rural states still dominate.

The south and the west, with the exceptions of Texas and California, are the states which have been with Missouri ostensibly behind Reed and Oklahoma more or less behind Bill Murray, seem to have combined also, into this rural bloc have been the states of Maine, Delaware and Pennsylvania, together with Michigan and Wisconsin. Here we have a definitely formed rural bloc, ready to oppose the Roosevelt nomination.

To get his two-thirds majority, Roosevelt's managers must be able to get Texas, Missouri, California and Oklahoma from the rural bloc and then trade with New York.

It is evident that Missouri will not stick to former Senator Reed and the city bosses in the Louis and Kansas City want to pick a winner. They went down with Champ Clark in 1912 and with Reed in 1920 and must get on the winning side to hold their prestige. The trade with New York is not impossible.

It is becoming more and more evi- dent to the New York leaders that the rural bloc is a democratic con- vention. The New York leaders could nomi- nate Roosevelt. They could not nomi- nate Smith. With Roosevelt's co- operation New York might name Ritchie or Baker, but with Smith in the field the Roosevelt vote is set.

Try to Get Smith Out.
That is the lesson of the second day's session of the convention. After the adjournment the managers are busy with the plan to get Smith out of the road, the managers of Ritchie feeling that the Maryland governor's retirement would be a blow to the Roosevelt side.

They look upon Smith as an obstacle to a compromise.

Indeed, most of the shrewd man- agers of the urban bloc realize that if they are to win they must dispose of Smith. Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, politically of Smith's kind, early made a suggestion of the withdrawal of both Smith and Roosevelt, but the gesture came at the wrong time. It angered the Roosevelt managers and probably was the in- spiration of the abortive attempt to abolish the two-thirds rule.

That Roosevelt has suffered a loss of prestige by abandonment of his position of the two-thirds rule no one can doubt. He started something he couldn't finish. It took the heart out of his lieutenants and their rout was complete. That the Roosevelt forces were able to hold what they held in permanently organizing the convention indicates the solidarity of the south and the west in its antagonism to the urban democracy.

The convention crowd outside of the delegates is urbanized and wring- ing war. The same boys that greeted Garfield, chairman of the platform committee in the republican con- vention, are now the Roosevelt forces who were pleading for the nomination of Senator Walsh as permanent chair- man.

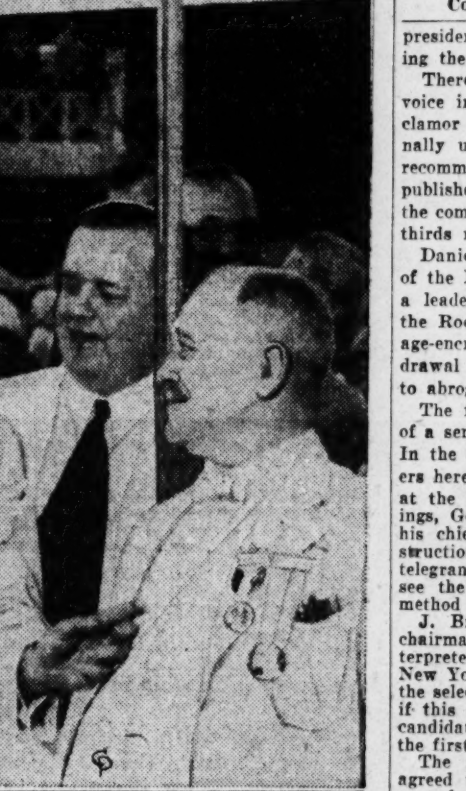

Roosevelt is Boos.
By a curious twist of affairs, and because he has the opposition of the more fanatical wets, Roosevelt stands out today as the man who has the most stood two weeks ago. Roosevelt has the delegates—his opponents, the galleries.

In this democratic convention Roosevelt has been eulogized in the position of the defender of the home against the rum fiend, which is funny when one considers the heavy burden of the platform Roosevelt is willing to support.

The stage is now set for one of the greatest dramas in modern American convention history. In this drama the one thing which all democrats fear is the deadlock. This fear may break Roosevelt after the fourth ballot, or it may carry him to victory, which, for this fear, he could never achieve.

John W. Davis Causes Near Brawl Trying To Get in Speakers' Stand

BY HENRY McEMORE.
CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, June 28.—(P)—National Hate and Double-Cross Week, observ- ed once every four years by the dem- ocratic party was opened Monday amidst an atmosphere of peace and good will as the speakers' stand.

The nearest approach to a real brawl, however, came when John W. Davis, democratic nominee for presi- dent in 1924, attempted to gain a seat on the speakers' platform. Confident of his fame and name would make up for the lack of a badge, Mister Davis brushed brusquely by the sergeant-at- arms, whose business it is to separate the sheep from the goats. He was about half way up the steps when the guard nailed him.

"Where do you think you're going, Buddy?" roared the guard.

"I am John W. Davis and I am going on the speakers' platform."

"Never heard of you," replied the guard, taking a firmer grip on Mis- ter Davis' coat tails. "You just think you're going up there. That's re- spected for the big shots. Besides, it's about half way up the steps when the guard nailed him.

CONVENTION VOTES HOUSTON RULES

presidential candidates before adopt- ing the platform.

There was only one loud dissenting voice in the meeting, held amid the clamor of the convention to set fi- nally upon the rules that would be recommended. Clark Howell, Atlanta publisher and the Georgia member of the committee, protested that the two-thirds rule should be thrust aside.

Daniel F. Colahan, a former justice of the New York supreme court, and a leader of the group that opposed the Roosevelt move to lay aside the age-encrusted rule, called the with- drawn of the Rooseveltian attempt to abrogate it an absolute surrender.

The final decision was the climax of a series of rapid-fire developments. In the midst of a drive by his lead- ers here for abandonment of the rule at the outset of convention proceed- ings, Governor Roosevelt telegraphed his chief, James A. Farley, in- structing him to drop this attempt, but his telegram added that he would like to see the rules committee propose a method of preventing a deadlock.

Bruce Kerner, the Roosevelt chair- man of the rules committee, inter- preted this as meaning that the New York governor would like to see the selection made by a majority vote if this convention failed to give any candidate the necessary two-thirds on the first few ballots.

ROOSEVELT SMILE GREET'S VICTORY

New Yorker Shows Pleas- ure Over Election of Thomas J. Walsh.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—(P)—A broad smile illuminated the heav- ily lined face of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt as the radio roared into his ears today news of the election of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Mon- tana, as permanent chairman of the convention.

The New Yorker had no official comment on the success of his candi- date over Jettett Shouse, of the anti- Roosevelt camp, but he evidenced his triumphal pleasure over the most recent important turn in his battle for the democratic presidential nomi- nation.

The Roosevelt camp followers here viewed today afternoon's developments at Chicago—Walsh's election and the seating of the Louisiana and Min- nesota delegations—as a triple victory offsetting any shaking their might have suffered in the two thirds rule quarrel.

The man who supplied the drama for the opening session of the democratic national convention stepped back today into the role of radio listener.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, spent the afternoon dictating letters on state affairs while a loud speaker over in a corner droned out the speeches of the Chicago Standard.

He wasn't talking about his cam- paign for the presidential nomination. During the day's two press confer- ences he referred to it only once.

That was in the morning, at the capitol, when he said he had had no part whatever in the resolution which the rules committee adopted last night, but dropped today, favoring adop- tion of the two-thirds nomination rule after the sixth ballot.

He had no comment to make on the action of the committee in dropping the plan.

Denies Flying Plans.
There were repeated rumors today that Governor Roosevelt plans to fly to Chicago. "There's one way I could get to Chicago that you fellows haven't guessed," he said at the afternoon press conference. "It would not be by airplane, train or automobile. I could simply drop out of sight, nobody would have the slightest idea where I was and eventually I'd appear in Chi- cago. Of course it would take quite a while."

He paused, laughed and added: "Governor Roosevelt had no com- ment to make on the seating of Huey Long's delegation from Louisiana."

As far as possible, the governor avoided the subject of the anti-Roosevelt delegation in the convention.

One of his friends said, however, that the Roosevelt camp had watched the rules committee's action with a keen eye and were considerably cheered by Long's victory.

As to the hour for the vote on the pending battle between the Roosevelt choice, Senator Thomas Walsh, of Montana, and Jettett Shouse, of Minnesota, the anti-Roosevelt group, contact was estab- lished between the governor and his Chicago followers.

James A. Farley called him on the telephone while the ballot was being taken on the Minnesota delegation.

Farley, selecting of the anti-Roosevelt group, contact was estab- lished between the governor and his Chicago followers.

He was busy with state matters in his office in the capitol this morn- ing, but he was expected to appear at home with him, and remarked to the newspapermen as they entered his study:

"You see, I'm getting caught up."

75 cents a day. The resolution origi- nally provided $2 per day, but the committee reduced it.

He resigned his position recently cause of trouble with his executive committee. Tonight he appeared as the nation's great commander, with a short address in which he emphasized the necessity of the veterans stand- solidly behind their leaders.

Farm Group Demands Roosevelt Nomination

KENTON, Ohio, June 28.—(P)—C. E. Wharton, of Kenton, presi- dent of the Federated Farm Clubs of America, said here today that his organization would project a third candidate into the presiden- tial field if the democrats fail to nominate Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York.

"No candidate except Roosevelt will be acceptable to the 6,000,000 members of the Federated Farm Clubs of America," he said, adding that all those opposed to the New York governor are "Wall Street candidates."

If Roosevelt is not nominated, Wharton said, he would issue a call to the progress of the na- tion, especially to members of the farm clubs, to meet in Cleveland July 9, in conjunction with the League of Independent Political Action, to name a third candidate for the presidency.

The whole committee was called for tomorrow morning.

Brief Platform.
The new platform—within a record limit of 1,200 words—will be laid be- fore the convention tomorrow when the prohibition fight will be settled.

Aside from the prohibition plank no other outstanding controversy is in prospect, although trouble is brewing on both the agriculture and bonus de- clarations.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, will put the repeal commitment plank before the whole committee for a re- cord vote. He has the representatives of 20 states and territories supporting the wet motion in committee.

With the support of Alfred E. Smith, he believes close to a majority can be mustered.

The language of the submission plank favored by the Roosevelt group was left until tomorrow for final de- termination.

Repeal Plank.
The tentative draft of the prohibi- tion plank calls upon congress to re- peal immediately to state conventions an amendment repealing the 18th rule should be thrust aside.

The whole committee assembled to- night at 8 o'clock to hear the farm leaders on a relief plank but the general outline of this declaration had been agreed to in a large measure.

It has been determined by the com- mittee that the democrats will not commit themselves either for the equal- ization fee, export debentures or any other special measure for giving agricul- ture help.

Senator Walsh presented a plank today agreed to by 20 of the 53 mem- bers of the committee representing states and territories of 566 delegates—12 less than a majority.

Text of Plank.
This plank reads: "We demand that the congress im

John Crawford, 96, Lifelong Dry, Favors Repeal of 18th Amendment

John Crawford, of 299 Formwalt street, S. W., Atlanta's oldest living salesman, though himself a personal dry, is in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. That was his opinion Tuesday as he sat listening over his radio and looking forward to his 96th birthday on Friday, July 1.

He is fast recovering from an illness which has confined him to his home for the last nine months, but his spirit is still that of youth. He frankly admits that he thinks long skirts with their ability to reveal and at the same time conceal, are much nicer than the brazen short skirts of a few years back.

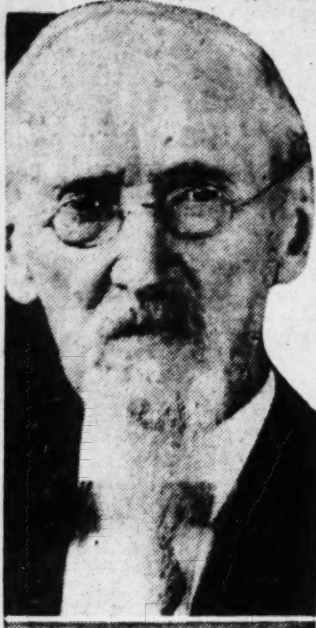

He was born in Athens, Tenn., and came to Atlanta just after the Civil War, opening a store in the old Roanoke building, the only one left standing on Whitehall street between the railroad tracks and Mitchell street when Sherman had finished his march through Georgia. He later became a salesman at M. Rich & Brothers and served with this company for 35 years, retiring nine years ago.

He declared that smoking does not hurt a man and that a simple life with simple habits is the recipe for long life. When interviewed at his home Tuesday he was sitting by an arched crystal radio set, head-phones and all, listening to the broadcast of the democratic national convention.

He was smoking a big black cigar, contrasting with his pale features and white beard.

"I hope the democrats will back the repeal of the eighteenth amendment," he asserted. "Personally, I never use whisky but prohibition is a farce and its repeal would be of great benefit economically. It would affect everyone from the banker to the lowest clerk."

He declared that he is looking forward to his birthday Friday and said despite his illness he feels "great" and is confident he will reach the first 100 years which he has been told by all ways "are the hardest."

NEW TYPE TAKES REINS AT PARTY CONVENTION

Overstuffed Ward-Heeler Giving Way to Business Men and Women.

BY CATHERINE FLENE.

(Copyright, 1934, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 28.—Judging from the people here for the democratic convention, a new type has entered the political arena. The overstuffed ward-heeler is missing. In his place are businessmen and women. Lawyers, economists, social workers. Almost every professional group is represented, all actively interested in shaping the policies of the party.

People are evidencing a deeper interest than just the selection of a nominee. Men and women have come, some at great personal sacrifice, to formulate party policy. "There must be a change," is on everyone's lips. The taxi-man tells you, the elevator boy, the panhandler. The rank and file feel it, and when they do, things happen. Everywhere one meets a demand for clearly-stated policies. Vague promises are taboo.

Fire hundred women, here in official capacity, have reported. Who are they and what influence have they? Women have become a definite part of party activity and the democratic leaders welcome the responsibility they are taking. The majority of these women are either delegates or alternates. There is one woman member of the national committee from each state and one from each of the territories. These women are working. They are not mere echoes of their men colleagues.

Among familiar figures is Miss Elizabeth Marbury, veteran New York committeewoman, moving from place to place in a wheel chair, and holding greater influence than any other woman on the national committee. Mrs. Belle Moskowitz, also from New York, is busy behind the scenes for Governor Smith. Mrs. Mollie Dewson is assisting in Governor Roosevelt's office, as is Mrs. Isabella Greenway, of Arizona, recently returned from a hurried trip to Africa.

Women interested in the Democratic Bulletin, published by the Women's National Democratic Club in Washington, are posting Junior League volunteers at tables in all the hotels and the stadium.

Florence Brewer Boeckel, writer, is actively working for a peace plank and has appeared before the platform committee. Mrs. Harve Gray, delegate from Missouri, is a lawyer and was admitted to the bar in 1928.

Representative Mary T. Norton, New Jersey, is with her state's delegation. No woman in the national house of representatives has equalled the political honors that have come to her. Mrs. Margaret Fungsten, of the Wisconsin delegation, is a tax expert, and has given much time to social science and economic activities.

Mrs. Mary Fitzwilliam Carney, a Vassar graduate, is in the Kansas delegation. She has traveled widely and has studied conditions in foreign countries. Mrs. Edward Pillsbury, Louisiana, has been playground commissioner of New Orleans. Mrs. Paul Donnelly, who burst into print when she was kidnapped by bandits, is here. She is a successful manufacturer from Kansas City.

Miss Lavina Engle, Baltimore, with the Maryland delegation, is a member of the state legislature. She is an ardent Ritchie supporter, and associated with her is the dean of the University of Maryland, Miss Adele Stamp. Another college official is Dean Permeal J. French, Idaho University.

The Chicago women's committee has arranged numerous social functions, teas at Lake Forest Estates, luncheons at the clubs and so on. But the real interest is political. There is work to do. There are distressing conditions to alleviate. There are principles to work for.

Well-groomed, alert women are wielding a constructive influence not attained before in either party. This convention is open to all comers. The women are as concerned and as divided as the men on policies. They are giving their efforts and delivering their strength as veterans in the game. They have discovered that politics is not a dilettante's game and that organization and ability to deliver votes count.

Murder Count Voted On Curtis in Killing

Howard Curtis, Marietta street barber, Tuesday afternoon was moved from Grady hospital to Fulton tower following indictment by the Fulton grand jury for the murder Saturday of Miss Annette Bryant, waitress in a Bankhead avenue cafe.

Curtis was held in Grady hospital under guard for several days while physicians observed his condition. The barber said that he took poison prior to shooting the waitress, but work by physicians was credited with counteracting effects of the poison.

2 PROMINENT COUPLES ARE WEDDED IN EAST

NEW YORK, June 28.—Two popular young couples were married today at separate ceremonies attended by scores of socially prominent persons.

Miss Electra Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Webb, was married at Garden City, L. I., to Dunbar W. Postwick, son of Mr. Fitch Gilbert and the late Albert C. Postwick. The bride's father formerly was an American international polo star.

At St. Bartholomew's church here, Miss Lillian Emerson, daughter of Mrs. Franklin S. Terry, was married to William Wright Harts, son of Brigadier General William Wright Harts and Mrs. Harts, of Washington and Madison, Conn. Her father, the late Neil Davis Emerson, was president of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad.

Miss Webb is a great-granddaughter of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt and of J. Watson Webb. She made her debut three years ago.

U. S. Agents Discover Town, Alleged 'Shiner'

Two federal prohibition officers connected with the Atlanta office Tuesday were being congratulated upon their discovery of a section of the state unknown to the average Georgian. While making a trip through Douglas county in search of possible "moonshiners," who might be "running off" a contraband gallon or so, the government agents heard of a town called Wild Cat, so the rumor went—hard by Bear creek.

So the agents, Federal Prohibition Officers Payne and McGowan, feeling that an unknown village possessing such a hard-boiled name might not be averse to harboring a "distiller" or two, proceeded to investigate. Their supposition proved true when they ran upon Charlie Goswick, said to be one of the leading citizens of Wild Cat, in the act of manufacturing whisky. Goswick was placed under $500 bond at a hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Tuesday afternoon for violation of the national prohibition law.

Roosevelt Girls Are Cool and Comfy As Sister Conventioneers Dress Up

BY BESS FURMAN.

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—The Roosevelt girls, democrat and republican, were cool and comfy, but the rest of femininity made a somewhat stiffly stylish dress parade on the opening day of the democratic convention.

Silk prints shimmered in the huge, smoky convention hall made better at intervals by blinding lights of cameramen. Felt hats put in a premature appearance, and even the straws were heavy and shiny. Sleeves were fancy and puffed. Hands were gloved and there were summer furs.

The handsome, dark-eyed Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, coming from Barney Baruch's box the far-off platform through opera-glasses, was distinguished-looking in a white-bordered gown of black silk, sparsely white-dotted, and a black hat touched with white.

All eyes sought the box where sat this widow of the war-time president.

last democratic first lady in the White House.

Across the hall from her sat a woman who was married in the White House, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, alone, and reveling in a back-to-girlhood fling.

"Oyster Bay, 1890" was her own characterization of the sleeveless, pale-purple cotton frock she wore, white-frilled at the neck with little linen strips cleverly put together with fagoting.

Her soft-knitted hat, purple, too, had plenty of open-work for coolness, as did her white sport shoes.

She was frankly thrilling to the convention scene, so familiar to Theodore Roosevelt's daughter. She smoked a cigarette just as she did in the days when the country thought it shocking.

Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of the man who claims the nomination, started the day in a frock which she frankly called "all wrong here—too much like tennis."

Her straight-line yellow dress was of porous weave, very cool; her hat was light and blue.

White mesh gloves with perforated brown suede flare cuffs that matched a brown suede bag was the style-novelty contribution of brown-clad Mrs. Alfred Smith. She wore a many-tailed fox fur across her shoulders.

"Just waiting, that's all," Mrs. Smith said when queried on her hopes for her husband.

CATHOLIC EDUCATORS MEET IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, June 28.—(AP)—The twenty-ninth annual convention of the National Catholic Educational Association opened today with more than 5,000 delegates and visitors present and several thousand more expected.

The religious program began with a pontifical mass, celebrated by the Most Rev. Francis W. Howard, bishop of Covington, Ky. Later reports were made on activities of Catholic schools in the United States and Canada.

Rich Vein of Gold Is Found in Alaska

CORODOVA, Alaska, June 28.—(AP)—An apparently rich gold-bearing ledge reaching back into the heart of a mountain, unearthed when a glacier lake swept away one side of the peak, today led old miners and prospectors into the Copper River railway area.

The discoverers, Fred Johnson and E. E. Smith, described it as the "biggest ledge of gold in the world."

VOTE FOR MONTGOMERY IS URGED BY NORRIS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Confirmation of the appointment of B. B. Montgomery as marshal for the northern district of Mississippi was advocated in the senate today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, chairman of the judiciary committee.

Action has been repeatedly blocked by Senator Shortridge, republican, California, who said he objected to the ground Montgomery had made remarks derogatory to negro women and the negro race in Mississippi.

China May Resume Moscow Relations

MOSCOW, June 28.—(UP)—A hint that the Chinese republic is preparing for resumption of diplomatic relations with soviet Russia was given today.

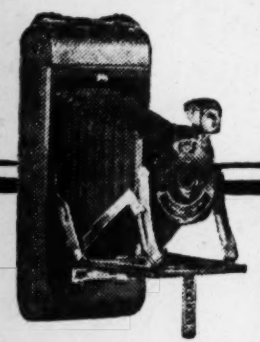

Wang Tsing-ze, acting head of the Chinese delegation in Moscow, requested an interview with the chief of the second eastern department of the foreign office to "deliver an important communication" from the Nanking government.

This was believed to be the first step toward resumption of relations. At the time of the Shanghai warfare with Japan, when Russia also was threatened with conflict in Manchuria with the Japanese troops, the Nanking government indicated it would resume relations with the soviets.

ROCKEFELLER HIT ON PROHIBITION CHANGE

Woodcock Says Financier's Conclusion Based on Misinformation.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Commenting upon the recent demand of John D. Rockefeller Jr. for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, said today that "it seems obvious he has based his conclusions to some extent upon misinformation."

In a letter to Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, the chief of federal enforcement challenged the contention that drunkenness has increased and that the speakeasy has replaced the saloon two or three times over.

The letter was placed in the Congressional Record by Sheppard, a staunch prohibitionist, who explained he had asked Woodcock's reaction to the Rockefeller statement.

Taking up first the Rockefeller assertion that drunkenness has increased, Woodcock described it as "a very general statement and by no means definite."

"A survey made of the possible production of illegal liquor in the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933," he said, "indicates that the consumption of liquor in that year was materially less than in the last year of unrestricted manufacture and sale of liquor (1914)."

Saying the statement had been made that the speakeasy has replaced the saloon "not only unit for unit, but probably two-fold if not three-fold," Woodcock described this as "a stock argument of associations opposed to the eighteenth amendment and the national prohibition act for several years."

Surveys in Detroit and New York, he said, "show the direct opposite of this statement to be the truth."

"The statement is made in the newspaper report of Mr. Rockefeller's letter," Woodcock continued, "that a vast army of lawbreakers have been recruited and financed on a colossal scale from the illegal sale of liquor. Again it is a very difficult thing to analyze such a general statement."

He quoted Attorney-General Mitchell as having said it has been found not over 20 per cent of the revenue of the government comes from liquor traffic and that the amount is diminishing.

May Be True.

"The statement that many of our best citizens, piqued at what they regarded as an infringement of their private rights, have openly disregarded the eighteenth amendment is, of course, a statement of opinion. It may be and possibly is true in some limited instances."

He added that statistics on arrests for drunkenness are misleading because officers now are more strict on the point.

W. E. Distributors Celebrate Sales Contest

The first get-together meeting of the retail sales force of the Georgia Electric Appliance Corporation, distributors in this territory for Westinghouse electric refrigerators and other appliances, was held Tuesday night at the Henry Grady hotel. The occasion was the celebration of a sales contest by the force. The winning team was entertained royally, having as its guests the losing team. J. M. Adams, vice president and sales manager of the distributing company, acted as toastmaster. Ralph S. Holgerson, president and general manager of the distributing company, predicted a big season for the Georgia Electric Appliance Corporation. A talk was made by S. A. Redding, supervisor of the distributing company. Talks were also made by William B. Creech, district supervisor of the refrigeration division of the Westinghouse Electric Company, and J. W. Brooks, southeastern advertising manager of the same company.

DANGER TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY IN MARATHON

Palais Peachtree Scene of Public Party for Miss Hazel Wright.

A public birthday anniversary party will be held tonight for one of the 20 contestants at the marathon dance now in progress at the Palais Peachtree. It was announced Tuesday, Miss Hazel Wright, of Atlanta, is the girl and many merchants and business firms have already sent in presents for her.

Many dancers have already dropped out of the marathon, which tonight will have been in progress for more than 200 hours, but the remaining 20 are in excellent physical condition and are good for many more hours, the management announced. Dancers are examined daily by a physician and are under the constant supervision of two trained nurses. Medical attention is given each dancer several times a day.

The trained nurses take the temperature of each boy and girl four times daily, and the thermometer is held in the mouth while dancing. An aggregate of nearly 65 pounds has been gained by the dancers, the nurses reported. "They get more sleep here than they do at home" was the way the gain was explained by an official of the company sponsoring the marathon.

A large birthday cake and ice cream, to be distributed among the dancers and spectators, were given Miss Wright by the Southern Dairies Company and the Federal Bakers. Other gifts to the dancer, whose number is 25, will be opened on the floor.

Florida Killed.

WITCH'S WARNING IS SEEN AS CAUSE OF TEXAS KILLING

VICTORIA, Texas, June 28.—(AP) A weird story of witchcraft was being investigated by officers today as the possible explanation of the mysterious slaying of Domingo Cisneros, 22-year-old nurseryman.

Cisneros was called to the door of his home the night of June 18 and not to death, allegedly by Henry Equia, 16.

Sheriff Robert S. Weisger said he had been informed the youth, an epileptic, had been told by a woman fortune teller Cisneros had cast a spell over him and he would not recover until he killed Cisneros.

Equia surrendered immediately after the slaying.

SANDINO ARRANGES FOR PEACE PARLEY

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 28.—(AP)—A peace conference between General Augusto Sandino, the Nicaraguan insurgent who has fought American marines for five years, and powerful political leaders of his country has been arranged for the very near future, it was announced today.

This startling development in Nicaraguan affairs came about very quickly through General Manuel B. Ladarez, prominent Sandinista, who recently talked with American officials from Nicaragua after a conference with General Sandino.

Participants in the conference probably will be the four liberal candidates for the Nicaraguan presidency and General Augusto Sandino.

Sandino's candidate in the coming election.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 28.—(AP)—C. B. Gregg, Jonesboro, Ark., today was elected president of the Mid-South Cotton Growers' Association.

Gregg, formerly county judge of Craighead county, Arkansas, succeeds H. H. Naff, Portland, Ark. The new president is a charter member of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Association.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were: J. D. Mosby, Somerville, Tenn., vice president; Charles G. Henry, Memphis, general manager; Abe D. Waldauer, Memphis, legal counsel, and A. B. Stewart, Memphis, secretary treasurer.

The entire board of directors was re-elected without opposition.

MODIFICATION ASKED BY JAMES MELLON

BRIAR CLIFF MANOR, N. Y., June 28.—(AP)—James R. Mellon, 87-year-old Pittsburgh banker and brother of the American ambassador to Great Britain, defended the eighteenth amendment in principle, but favored modification of the present liquor laws in a speech delivered in Briar Cliff lodge last night before the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

"The mistake," he said, referring to the adoption of the eighteenth amendment, "was in making it too arbitrary at the start. The country should not have been deprived of liquor with such a jolt."

LOVETTE LOSES FIGHT ON POSTMASTERSHIPS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Four eastern Tennessee postmasters whose nomination was opposed vigorously by Representative Lovette (republican, Tennessee) were confirmed today by the senate.

They were: Henry I. Smythe, of Bristol; Lulu M. Divine, of Johnson City; Robert T. Johnson Jr., of Elizabethton; and Jasper A. Berry, of Bulls Gap.

Word 'Or' in P. O. Bill Provokes Hot Debate

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP) Whether the word "and" in the billion-dollar treasury-postoffice supply bill provoked a hot debate in the senate today, Senator George, democrat, Georgia, contending "or" would give the advantage to jute importers over domestic cotton producers.

After a half-hour attack, George accepted "or" but the senate first agreed to his amendment providing that special preference should be given to American-manufactured products or articles made of American raw materials. The two words were in a section of the bill stipulating that in spending the funds, the two departments shall buy only articles from the United States unless the interests of the United States would not permit and would raise the cost to an "unreasonable extent."

The exact language of the clause of the section as it came from the appropriations committee involving the two words was:

... only articles of the growth, production and manufacture of the United States ...

Heart Ailment Fatal To King of Feudists

MIZE, Miss., June 28.—(AP)—"Wild Bill" Sullivan, last "king of Sullivan's Hollow" is dead.

"Wild Bill"—his mother called him "leadproof"—who had laughed at death many times in his iron rule of the feud-ridden "Hollow," surrendered only under weight of 81 years and a chronic heart ailment.

He died at his home near here after a long fight for life.

Death of "Wild Bill" removed one of Mississippi's most colorful fighters, whose career in his southern Simpson county "empire" labeled him variously as outlaw, fugitive and good citizen.

A descendant of a clanish tribe of nine brothers, who, tradition says, originally settled their "Hollow" in 1810—"Wild Bill" became the last exponent of their regime as violent death claimed one after another of his kinsmen.

In recent years, Bill's life had been quiet and staid, though he always enjoyed reminiscences of "the old days"—a battle at Shiloh church, the Bunker Hill Mill fight and a score of "brushes" with knife and gun involving members of his clan.

Good old Dr. Pepper kept us from going completely "nerfs." Otherwise we couldn't have stood the stock market crash, the Farm Board, Clara Bow's nervous breakdown, war debt moratorium, prohibitionists, anti-prohibitionists, and overproduction of everything, including a big load of gloom.

Millions have found Dr. Pepper a very real help in hard times. He appoints no commissions, promotes no plans, proposes no political panaceas. COMMITTEE SUSPENDS CITY DAIRY FARM HEAD

Tom C. Morris Charged With Drunkenness and Use of City Materials.

Tom C. Morris, superintendent of the city dairy farm, Tuesday afternoon was suspended until adjudication by the streets committee of council charges of drunkenness, sleeping on duty, and use of city materials and city labor at his private farm. The committee action was unanimous, and followed a report of Councilman George B. Lyle, chairman, that Morris had reentered himself against his accusers by discharging them from the service.

A special committee of three members of the streets committee, in addition to Lyle and Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, under whose direction the prison farm is operated, will begin an investigation this morning of the farm and also will seek to ascertain whether those fired by Morris were discharged for infraction of rules or whether they lost their jobs because they signed affidavits making charges against the foreman. If it is found that the men were ousted solely for making charges against Morris it was the intention of the committee that they should be reinstated, pending outcome of the trial of Morris, but if it is found that the charges were without foundation, they probably will be dismissed by the committee, it was said.

Councilman John T. Marler made the motion to establish the investigating committee, and Lyle appointed Councilmen Homer C. Foster and Ed L. Almond to serve as members. Complaints against Morris were made in affidavits signed by A. B. Childs, truck driver; C. P. Hightower, night watchman; Lewis Mosely, guard; Parks Eaton, a prisoner; J. C. Ellis, foreman of the farm; J. C. Pierce; W. L. Ray, day cook; and George Tulin, truck driver.

The committee will meet again at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and will be ready to proceed with the hearing, it was decided Tuesday afternoon.

J. HOWARD ELLIS DIES FROM PISTOL WOUNDS

Charge Against Lee Hendrix, Special Officer, Is Changed to Murder.

J. Howard Ellis, 38, of 323 Whitehall street, died Tuesday afternoon of wounds received Sunday afternoon when he was shot twice by Lee Hendrix, 44, city sanitary truck driver and special officer, who is being held without bond at police station on a charge of murder. The shooting occurred when Hendrix attempted to arrest Ellis following an altercation at the cafe of F. M. Jones, at 235 Whitehall, according to police reports.

Jones called Hendrix to the restaurant to arrest Ellis, after his son, L. L. Jones, had been cut in a fight at the cafe, it was said. Hendrix told police he shot Ellis in the hip and chest when the latter advanced on him in a threatening manner with a steel file in his hand. Ellis was taken to Grady hospital where he died.

Charges of disorderly conduct were placed against Hendrix Sunday night, and Tuesday afternoon they were changed to murder. He surrendered to the police immediately following the shooting.

The body of Ellis, who resided at 323 Whitehall street, will be taken to Greenwood, S. C., for funeral services and interment. Hendrix lives at 336 Whitehall street.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.
There's music in the air! Spine-tling music! And gold galore in the Songame! What could be a happier combination?

The Songame, designed to entertain and enrich Constitution readers, is flowering into a pastime that for sheer pleasure, would be difficult to duplicate. One thousand eight hundred dollars in cash prizes is to be bestowed upon those who are successful in finding the largest number of titles represented by the fascinating series of pictures. Today's picture, which is No. 4, illustrates a song that has been popular for many years. Look it over. Note the servant and the cane. Now, surely you remember this tune! When you recall the title, write it on the coupon in the space provided for that purpose, together with your name and address. Then watch for the other pictures of the series, and you'll be on the first lap toward the first prize of $1,000, or one of the other 30 liberal awards.

Those who take part in the Songame will not be asked to get subscriptions, or to meet any special conditions. It's simply a matter of following the instructions printed elsewhere on this page. Even though you may not be a subscriber for The Constitution, you may take part. No knowledge of music is required. There will be no tie-breaking series of pictures, or any extra work to do.

If, by any chance, you missed the first three pictures, or have just made up your mind to be among the prize winners, you're not a bit handicapped. The back pictures, as well as a valuable list of several thousand song titles, may be had free of cost or obligation by calling at the office of The Constitution, or by mail, for a two-cent stamp.

MAN KNIFED IN FIGHT IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Berry Jones, 28-year-old Palmetto farmer, was in a critical condition at Grady hospital Tuesday night after having lingered between life and death for 24 hours. He was carried there for treatment Monday night with his spinal column nearly severed by knife cuts.

Jones said he had been drinking with five men and that an argument arose. One of them pulled out a long, broad knife and slashed at his neck, he told doctors.

Plans are ready for a blood transfusion if necessary, doctors said.

MEANS' ACCESSORY HELD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—Norman Whitaker, "the fox" through whom Gaston B. Means promised Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, of Washington, to return the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, was held here today as a fugitive from justice.

Police said he was wanted in Washington, D. C., on a charge of conspiracy and grand larceny growing out of the case in which Means, a former government operative, was convicted of defrauding Mrs. McLean of $104,000. Means is under sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary.

Whitaker was arrested in Brooklyn last night by detectives and department of justice agents who had been "covering" a house at 17 Lake street where Whitaker had been living with his wife and father-in-law. He was taken to police headquarters, where police disclosed today, Mrs. McLean and her maid identified him as the man taken to Mrs. McLean's Aiken, S. C., cottage by Means during the "kidnap negotiations."

"How much of the $104,000 did you get?" Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan asked "the fox" in the police lineup today.

"I got none of it, but I wish I did," he replied.

"Were you double-crossed?"

The prisoner smiled.

"How long have you known Means?" he asked.

"I never admitted knowing Means," he replied. "I don't care to make a statement. I want a lawyer."

"But you are a lawyer," the inspector said.

"I was a lawyer, but I was disbarred," Whitaker replied.

Whitaker said that he worked on inventions, patents and trade marks and when pressed for particulars he said he was at work on a method to sound-proof the interior of an automobile. Urged to make a clean breast of his connection with Means and the Lindbergh case, he said he would as soon as he got a lawyer.

Lindy's Opinions On Kidnap Case

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 28.—(AP)—For the first time since the kidnaping of his infant son, Charles A. Lindbergh, on the witness stand in the Curtis trial today, made known some of his own opinions about the case.

Here is what he said about: John Hughes Curtis, on trial for obstructing justice, . . . "I don't believe Mr. Curtis ever had contact with the kidnapers. But I did believe it at the time."

How Curtis' activities impeded police, . . . "I know the attention of the authorities was diverted to a certain extent."

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burdette, retired, who introduced Curtis to him, . . . "I still have confidence in Admiral Burdette."

Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jaisie" who passed $50,000 of Lindbergh money over a cemetery hedge in futile ransom, . . . "I have always believed Dr. Condon had been in contact with the kidnapers, or their representatives."

He is still working with the authorities, and that is one of the most important factors in the investigation."

Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wheatley, butler and housekeeper, . . . "I have only three servants, and I have complete faith in them."

The state police, . . . "It is not for me to run the state police."

The cryptic symbol on the ransom note, . . . "I'd rather not give details, but it was overlapping circles in blue, a smaller red circle in the center, with three holes in the design."

LINDY DISAGREES WITH STATE IDEA ON CURTIS' STORY

bergh never saw the boat, despite repeated trips by sea in search of it. Edmund B. Bruce, of Elmira, N. Y., followed Lindbergh to the stand and surprised the courtroom on more than one count.

Bruce, who entered the case a friend of Curtis and driver of the car which took them on many trips, said Curtis one night in New York pointed out to him a man he said was the "John" to whom Condon gave the ransom money in a Bronx cemetery.

The man came out of a cafeteria, Bruce said, as Curtis predicted he would do, looking neither to the right nor to the left.

"That is John," Curtis was quoted as saying.

Bruce, who declined to come to court as defense witness, but willingly appeared for the prosecution, related that Curtis had obtained $1,000 from Mrs. Bruce by misrepresentation, and in reference to this called Curtis a "liar."

A moment later, pressed by the defense, Bruce was saying:

"I do not think he (Curtis) is guilty, under this indictment."

But when the defense sought to get testimony from him to support their contention of police duress used on Curtis, they failed.

"You got your idea of Jersey justice from treatment of Curtis."

"I didn't know of any mistreatment. I heard he was well treated."

"Did you talk of the matter of money with Colonel Lindbergh?"

"I think I did. He said he could be helpful in the sale of Mr. Curtis story to a decent newspaper."

"Didn't you suggest to Mr. Curtis hard, cold facts could be dull and suggest a fictional, lies, story?"

"Never."

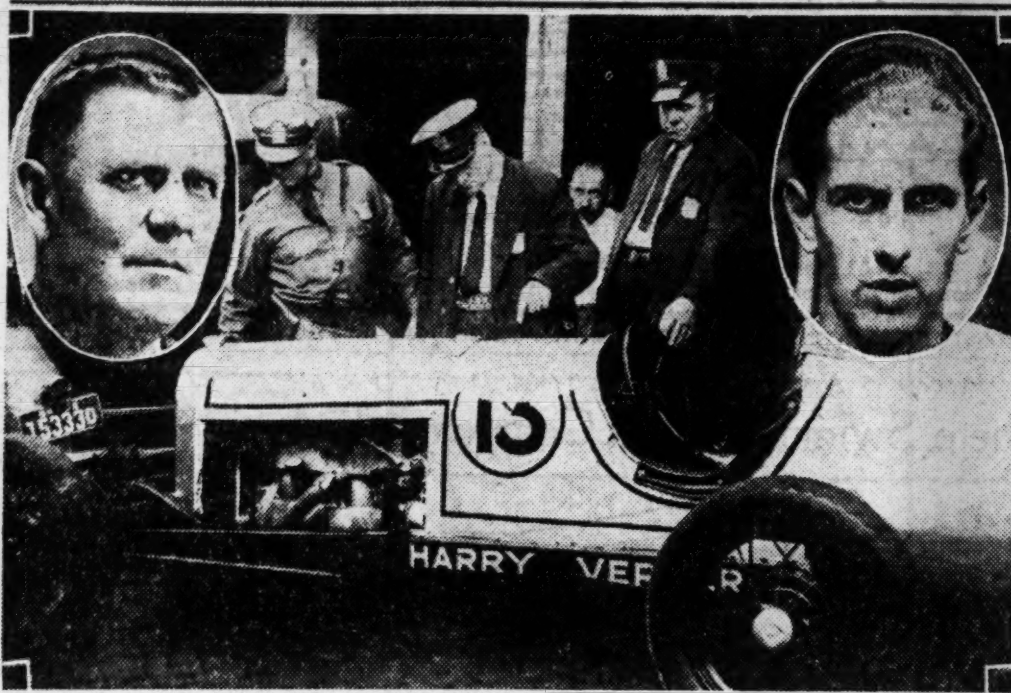

Bruce said he had induced Curtis to go to Colonel Lindbergh in the first place, when Curtis told him about being approached by a supposed kidnaper representative. He told of seeing the man Curtis called "Dynamite," also, on one occasion, but he did not speak to him.

William Edward Haskell, of the New York Herald-Tribune business department, followed Bruce. He told of being approached by Curtis and Bruce about sale of a story on the return of the baby.

The men wanted a guarantee of $25,000, Haskell testified. He said no written contract was made.

Curtis asked that a $25,000 advance from the syndicate proceeds of his story be arranged, Haskell said, adding, "I told him if his story wasn't worth $25,000 it wasn't worth a cent."

Principals in Fatal Automobile Accident Here

Above are the principal figures and the car which figured in the death Tuesday of Policeman J. M. B. Goode. The victim of the accident is shown inset at the upper left and Harry Verner, 19-year-old mechanic with the Verner Brothers Auto Parts Company, driver of the death car, is shown at the upper right. The car, a racing machine, built for only one passenger, is shown in the larger picture. The policemen shown standing back of the machine are, left to right: S. C. Wallace, Henry Donehue and E. H. Bentley. They are pointing to a huge dent in the hood of the car, near where the figure "13" is to be seen, showing where the body of the patrolman struck after he was hit by the front of the auto. duties, and has a son, W. A. Goode, who is a member of the force.

Following the accident, which occurred near Goode's home, 315 Whiteford avenue, police conducted a search for the driver of the racing automobile which was found in a garage at 800 DeKalb avenue. While the search was being conducted Mr. Carpenter telephoned Chief Sturdivant that he would deliver Verner to police immediately.

With the exception of nearly two years' leave of absence, Goode had been a member of the police force since November 8, 1910. He was born at Conyers July 20, 1870, and in 1890 was married. From April, 1912, to January, 1914, he obtained a leave of absence from active duty, but went back into the service in 1914 and had remained a member until the time of his death.

Verner was to have entered his career in the contests at Lakewood July 4. The car, a slim, high-powered single-seat type, was to have been entered as "The Verner Special." It bore the number 13 on the hood and radiator.

In addition to his wife, Goode is survived by two sons, Grady Goode, a vice president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Walter Goode, member of the police department; two daughters, Mrs. L. F. Thompson and Mrs. O. Y. Lester; a brother, Joe Goode, of Griffin, and one sister, Mrs. John Johnson.

GEO. W. WALKER FALLS TO DEATH

Mr. Walker had returned the previous night from a week-end visit with his wife to Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. J. L. Dennis, at Sea Island Beach. Hopson told investigators Mr. Walker had remarked to him that he was feeling unwell and that he had suffered dizzy spells during the week-end visit.

Hopson said Mr. Walker left him temporarily shortly before 7 o'clock, and that after waiting for him until he became alarmed he went in search of him. Hopson found the body of the company president on the second floor landing of the freight elevator.

A native of Sevierville, Tenn., Mr. Walker spent his boyhood at that place, and entered business in Knoxville, where he remained until 1900, when he removed to Atlanta and entered the wholesale grocery business. Mr. Walker was a brother of Lloyd Walker, city purchasing agent, and the husband of Mrs. Lucille Walker, who, before her marriage in 1914, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dennis. Mr. Dennis died several years ago. In addition to Lloyd Walker, Mr. Walker is survived by his wife; his parents, who live at Gallatin, Tenn.; five brothers, A. W. and B. E. Walker, of Atlanta; W. T. Walker, of Gallatin, Tenn.; and H. B. and L. R. Walker, of Greenville, Tenn., and four sisters, Mrs. Roy H. Mossey, Atlanta; Mrs. T. C. Tipton Tampa; Mrs. A. M. Hedick, Palatka, Fla.; Mrs. Ruby Marshall, of Winter Park, Fla. The body was removed to the undertaker.

It's pretty hard to be around a Chesterfield and not want one. That tempting aroma tells you the truth. It says . . . "Here's a milder cigarette. Here's one that tastes better."

Sure . . . there's a good reason. Several, in fact. Chesterfields contain the finest tobaccos grown.

These tobaccos are not only blended, they're cross-blended in Chesterfield's own special way. They are rolled in the purest paper that money can buy. Grown right. Cured right. Blended right. Made right. Packed right. That's Chesterfield.

In fact, there isn't any way for a cigarette to be purer, milder or better tasting.

BREAK of the DAY

Battling Cyclone, "The Black Snake," is back in the city. Back in town from Florida where he wrote, "I'm down here fightin' everything I come across."

The Cyclone is in distress. A restaurateur served him a piece of pie. Shortly afterward the Cyclone was ill.

"I et in this place," he said, as he leaned mournfully against the door, "n right after eatin' I eats a piece of strawberry pie. 'N then I gits the colic bad and is in bed three or fo' days."

The Cyclone is hunting a lawyer. He feels sure it was the strawberry pie. The Cyclone first came to this department a year ago seeking fights. Since then he has disappeared at intervals writing about fights in Cuba and in Florida and the delights of training on the beach.

The Cyclone scorns the local fights open to him.

"Them boys," he says, "gits paid off two bits heah and fo' bits there. The Cyclone ain't goin' to git punched around' fo' thet."

The Cyclone was willing to fight on Jay Thomas' amateur card for a small amount.

"But you are a pro," protested Mr. Thomas, who, after years of handling tough hombres and bindle stiffs in the ring, is taking on the ethereal look of a choir boy since he started handling the simon pures—"But you," protested Mr. Thomas, "are a pro. And I could not pay a pro anything."

"At's all right, Mist Thomas," said the Cyclone, as he twirled his hat in his hands, "I fights either amateur or pro. I knows about these heah amateurs. I fights either way."

And so, I don't know about the Cyclone. He always wants to fight. But somehow he has never fought. He has, I find upon investigation, never gone for the booze. Nor is he a great hand for the gals.

The Cyclone's weakness, says one of his friends, is revivals.

"Yes, suh," said one of the Cyclone's friends, "he jest won't stay away from them tent meetings and revivals. I spec the Cyclone goes to chuch more'n any boy in Atlantuh. Yes, suh, he goes to 'em. He goes early and he stays late. 'At boy won't hardly git enuff sleep he goes to so many revivals."

Mr. Thomas, who shudders slightly at the mention of the word professional, is nevertheless thinking about putting on a professional fight. And I want to see the Cyclone in one of the preliminary fights with a guarantee, win, lose or draw. And if the Cyclone doesn't win after all these visits to the office I am going to take him to that same restaurant and make him eat the whole strawberry pie.

FOOTBALL BANS RADIO.

Following the lead taken by the Southern conference last fall, the eastern colleges have banned radio broadcasts of their football games for this fall. The Big Ten is expected to follow.

The colleges in all associations have become a bit tired, they say, of seeing their receipts cut deeply by radio broadcasts. This is the reason for their discontinuance.

Southern colleges proved to their own satisfaction that the radio broadcast hurt attendance at their games.

There seems to be no reason, say the colleges, why they should give away the broadcast since they have definite expenses to meet, stadiums to pay for, coaches to hire, and equipment to buy.

Radio pays a stiff price for the right to broadcast the major boxing matches. Probably some method may be worked out whereby the colleges may reach some equitable arrangement with the broadcasting companies. The trend against radio broadcast of athletic events, however, is significant.

Radio has an argument but the colleges seem to have definitely decided their course, which is to offer the game to those who care to pay to see it.

At any rate it makes a grand argument. The fun will now begin, or might, except for the fact that the colleges have the last word. And have said it.

FIGHT CLUBS CARRY ON.

One of the most amazing features of the economic crisis, depression to you, is the manner in which small fight clubs have sprung up.

Atlanta is the possessor of a fight club in almost each section of the city. They are offering wrestling and boxing matches and seem to be making a go of it. At least they carry on from week to week. In boom times there were no such clubs.

This may mean the development of some good fighters. Jay Thomas is making the people attend amateur fights at Lakewood park, which all promoters thought too far away. It's an ill wind—etc.

A LOT OF PEOPLE THINK SO.

"Dear Sir—A lot of us here at Calhoun think that Sharkey deserves a lot more credit for the manner in which he won than Schmeling did for winning the title by a claim of foul that never was definitely proved. A good sport wouldn't have done that. What do you think about it?"—Calhoun Fans.

A lot of people think as you do.

COULDN'T YOU KILL—

The fellow who calls up on the telephone just when you are busiest and insists that you guess who is talking?

A. A. C. Members Floyd Replaced Vote New Plan At the Citadel

The membership of the Atlanta Athletic Club at a called meeting Tuesday night voted to give the board of directors authority to establish a membership known as "Associate Membership." This waives the payment of an initiation fee, and the present requirement which compels the new member to purchase a share of stock for $100.

The resolution which was adopted gave the board the right to accept as many such memberships as it deemed wise, and to stop taking them at any time it saw fit.

At a meeting of the board it was decided to limit this membership to 100 members. The applicants must meet all requirements for regular memberships, making application on the usual blank, being endorsed by members, and being voted upon by the usual committee. Once elected to this membership the individual may continue it until he chooses to terminate it. This prevents the insertion of the stock requirement later on when times get better.

More than 30 applications were received by the membership committee for this type of membership from former members of the A. A. C.

Donald Moe, of Portland, Va. Maurice McCarthy Jr., of New York.

Charles Seaver, of Los Angeles and Simpson, of New York.

Jess W. Sweetser, of New York. George J. Voigt, of New York.

Jack Westland, of Chicago.

The selections show the biggest percentage of "new blood" yet called to the colors for this international competition. Five have never played in Walker cup matches, thereby assuring the younger generation a real test.

RISE FAST.

Of these, McCarthy was good enough to be named an alternate for the 1930 series. Howell and Seaver have sprang rapidly to prominence in national tournaments. Dunlap has won a number of major events and Westland went to the finals against Ouimet in the 1931 national amateur.

The backbone of experience is supplied by Captain Ouimet, Johnston and Sweetser, veterans of a majority of the six previous Walker cup battles. Ouimet has played in them all.

Sweetser did not go abroad with the 1930 team but Moe and Voigt, included in the lineup for the first time, contributed substantially to the Americans' decisive triumph under the leadership of Bob Jones.

BOBBY.

Jones, as well as George Von Elm, Dr. Oscar F. Willing and Roland McKenzie, of the 1930 team, have been replaced. Jones and Von Elm, "businessman" golfers, no longer are eligible.

As the Walker cup competition consists of eight singles matches and four foursomes, Captain Ouimet will have some decisions to make in fixing the lineup at Brookline. He probably will rely on the more experienced players in the singles and give two of the younger stars a chance to perform in the foursomes.

The British team, under the leadership of T. A. Torrance, also will show considerable new talent this year, including the new champion, John De Forest.

The United States has never been defeated in this team competition, winning all six contests since 1922.

Father of Billy

Is Very Pleased.

RICHMOND, Va., June 28.—(AP)—Thomas B. Howell, father of Billy Howell, said today the naming of his son as a member of the American Walker cup golf team was the realization of "the biggest ambition of the Howell family."

Billy himself has always said that his greatest ambition was to play against England.

Young Howell, who is just 20, is now playing in the national intercollegiate golf tournament at Hot Springs.

De Forest Likes

Godwin's Chances

To Scale Ladder

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., June 28.—That Bob Godwin, Georgia boy, who meets Joe Knight, an ex-Greengard, defender of his high honor, the weight champion of the south in Burgoine Island arena here Friday night eventually will be the light heavyweight champion of the world is the confident prediction of Jimmy DeForest, veteran trainer of Jack Dempsey and other champion. "Of the past, who has devoted the past year to Godwin's development," Bob has everything that a champion should have," the old-timer declares.

DeForest believes, however, that Knight is about the toughest barrier his protege has to pass in the present stage of his climb to the heights. Past meetings between the husky Crackers seem to convert that belief into a foregone conclusion. Their previous fights have resulted in one draw, a knockout for Knight and two decisions for Godwin, and there is no doubt but that their fifth title bout Friday night will be bitterly fought.

Having returned from successful bouts in Daytona Beach, in a card of 24 or 30 rounds, they will be supported by the fastest men procurable in the lighter divisions.

With Lew Diamond, who is affiliated with the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York, in charge, the bouts will be staged by the city of Daytona Beach and they will serve as a preface to the ninth annual Volusia Summer Frolics of Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

"We propose," said Mayor E. H. Armstrong, "to make Daytona Beach one of the leading boxing centers of the south, summer as well as winter. Friday's bouts will be characteristic of those we have staged and propose to stage hereafter."

Prothro Isn't Worried Over This Flag Chase

"We Can't Miss," Says Chick Boss; Hamel's Size May Keep Him Down.

By Jimmy Jones.

"Doc" Prothro, the gay medico, isn't the least bit worried about how this Southern league pennant race is going to come out. He said so on his last trip here and he must be convinced of his own phraseology now that his Chicks have just finished mopping up the series with the Chattanooga Lookouts, their closest competitors.

"The reason I'm not worried," declared "Doc" Prothro with that quizzical, amused expression on his good-natured plan, "is because I've had more injuries on my ball club than any other in this man's league and still we're going along, playing good ball."

It was noted that Prothro had Kenneth McNeill, a castoff right-hander, warming up to pitch against the Crackers. This led to a query regarding his pitching staff.

"I'm not worried about my pitchers; I've got plenty of good ones, and I just took on this fellow (pointing to McNeill) because we had him down at Jackson," he continued. And even McNeill stepped out and beat the Crackers.

The Chicks look like a championship ball club in every department. They have just a little more reserve strength and a little more pitching than Chattanooga. When Herschel Bobo and Grant Gillis were forced off the infield with injuries, Prothro, who is still one of the best third basemen in the minors, took over that position, where he began to play a big fielding game.

Reese was moved to second to cover for Gillis, and Joe Hutcherson, Peck Hamel and Fern Bell made up the rest of the team.

Kit Mar, a past winner, deserted the pitching staff. But that made no difference. Walter Beck, who is making an exhibition here until the races and will make tours of nearby towns.

On next Monday, the rocket car makes its first appearance on an American track as an added feature to the races with Haugdahl at the wheel.

But Tom Davis, a young right-hander from Bailey, Tenn., to whom Class A meant no more than the first letter of the alphabet back in the country, is the apple of Prothro's eye. He and Frank Longinotti are confident of selling him and gathering up a nice bit of change. Despite their proximity to the top, the Chicksaws haven't been drinking in one of the series they have attracted in other years. So if Davis and maybe Hamel are sold, there will be no depression in Tom Watkins' front office.

And, speaking about Hamel, there is one sweet ball player for you. This is his fourth professional season. He started at Hagerstown in the Blue Ridge league, Hack Wilson's point of origin. From the beginning he was a good ball player. At present he is leading the Southern league with a mark of .422.

The only thing against Hamel is his build. He has the youth, great speed and a fine hitting eye. He can throw and cover more ground than any outfielder in the league. He is a terrific left field cloutier, has driven around 175, but at first sight he appears a bit fragile to the scouts. This causes them to look a bit askance at him, which is a great injustice. Hamel really hits a ball as hard as any other right-handed batter in the league.

$25,000 PLAYER.

"I consider Hamel a $25,000 ball player right now," said Prothro. "The quartet of Reese, Hamel, Hutcherson and Brazill represents the clubbing power of the Chicks. Reese, a terrific left field cloutier, has driven in 74 runs and Keyes, of Nashville, who has batted in 78, is the only man near him in this department. He is another Chick player who should go back to the big show."

The Memphis infield, even without Grant Gillis, is a good one. With Gillis it is near perfect. Johnny Berger is an ex-

CRACKERS LOSE ANOTHER, 7 TO 3

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 28.—Making hard plays look easy and hitting everything little Bussy Hearn had to offer, the Pelicans carried Ball Ranch to a 7-to-3 victory over the Atlanta Crackers Tuesday afternoon at Heinemann park. Rausch had a couple of bad innings, but in the great majority of rounds was mowing down the Crackers in masterly fashion and his clever pitching and the general all-around good play of the Birds made them look like anything but a cellar outfit.

The Pels banged Hearn for 13 hits, five of which were bunched in the fifth inning, to score three runs and one of which was a home run by "Chief" Autry, over the left-field fence. In the sixth Autry was first up and his circuit ball was the only run made that inning. Autry also contributed a two-run homer and a single and was the hitting star of the afternoon.

Hearn went the limit and pitched shutout ball until the fatal fifth, the first three Pelican runs being unearned ones. Rausch held Atlanta to seven hits, five of which were made in the fourth and fifth innings.

It was a hard played and even game until the Birds put it on ice in the fifth. The Crackers scored first, a base on balls to Barron and a two-bagger by Goff bringing in a run in the opening. The Pels caught that lead and went to the front by scoring two in their second inning. A base on balls to Galatzer, an error by Shortstop Chatham on Lind's ground-er and a two-bagger by Autry accounted for the runs. In the third inning a base on balls to Harrington, a single by Reese, an error by Goff and an outfield fly brought in a third run.

The Crackers threatened Rausch in the fourth by putting two men on base with none out, but a double play and a strikeout stopped the rally. Then in the fifth they tied up the Pel lead when Goff doubled and a man on first, Goff doubled again and Rosenthal singled.

But singles by Hock, Rose, Sturdy and Galatzer, with a two-bagger by Harrington sandwiched in brought in three runs in the Pels' half and that settled things.

The Crackers couldn't touch Rausch after that and McKee, who walked in the sixth, was the only man to get on.

TOBACCO FARMERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Georgia Leaf Producers Are Shown Results of Tests Conducted at Station.

BY JOHN G. HERRING.

TIFTON, Ga., June 28.—(P)—Tobacco farmers from throughout the Georgia coastal belt gathered here Tuesday for the annual summer tobacco field day. In addition to the growers, many county agents and teachers attended the meeting.

The visitors were shown over the Georgia coastal plain experimental station where more than 600 plots are devoted to experiments in tobacco culture.

Chief among the experiments demonstrated with tobacco grown on the Tifton and Norfolk types of soil, are the fertilizer tests. These include the effect of the use of manure and tobacco stems as fertilizer was shown, as well as lime and calcium tests.

The effect of crop rotation in control root knot was demonstrated. Tobacco experiments have been under way at the station since 1921, and are being conducted by J. M. Carr and J. G. Gaines, tobacco specialists of the U. S. department of agriculture, and S. H. Starr, director of the experiment station, and E. C. Westbrook, the latter two being conducted with the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

The summer meeting is one of two tobacco meetings held annually at the station. The other meeting is usually held in December when the results of the practical application of experiments conducted at the station are discussed.

This year's tobacco crop promises to be the smallest in years.

Miss Faulkner Weds William F. Everitt In Covington, Ga.

COVINGTON, Ga., June 28.—Marked by simplicity and beauty was the marriage Thursday of Miss Claudine Faulkner and William F. Everitt at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Faulkner. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. M. Maxwell, pastor of the Covington Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends.

Floral baskets of gladioli and other garden flowers formed an aisle which led to the rear hall where rich green foliage against which were placed alternate pedestals of white flowers and flowers and branches of candelabra holding white tapers, formed a background for an improvised altar.

Preceding the wedding Miss Louly Turner, accompanied by Walter Stephenson, sang "Until" and "Because."

Miss Pauline Faulkner was her sister's maid of honor. She wore yellow organdie with touches of light green and her bouquet was of Talamian roses tied with wide green tulle. Little Mary Jean Faulkner, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her frock was of pale blue organdie and she carried a basket of pink roses. Miss Everitt was her brother's best man.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father, W. C. Faulkner. Her youthful blushing loveliness was enhanced by her wedding gown of white chiffon and a veil of tulle with clusters of orange blossoms confining it to her soft hair in cap fashion. Her bouquet was of Pernet roses showered with valley lilies and tied with white satin ribbon. After the ceremony an informal reception was held.

Mrs. Everitt is the eldest of a trio of attractive sisters. Her marriage is the culmination of a romance begun when she and Mr. Everitt were students of Covington High school, from which both were graduated in the same class. Later, both attended Emory Junior College.

Mrs. Everitt is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Everitt, his only brother being Olin Everitt. He received his education at Darlington school, Emory Junior College and at Emory University. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta and the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternities.

Playing for Penalties.

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

The puny difference between collecting a penalty of 100 points and 50 points is too insignificant to be worth consideration. When the best of a player can hope for is a set of 1 trick, even though his opponents are vulnerable, he should not double, except possibly in some instances as a precautionary measure to prevent a partner from going beyond his depth.

The margin of 2 tricks to justify a Penalty Double has the soundest possible basis. One reason is that, however accurate the bidding may be, all the story of the distribution may not have been unfolded, and cards counted on as sure trick winners may not actually prove to be so when the hand is laid on the table. Another reason is that a close Double helps the Declarer in placing adversely held strength, so that a trick that might seem impossible to fulfill, were it not for the illuminating information of the Double, may then be made.

The hand below is an example not only of the unwise Double, but of accurate play on the part of the Declarer in realizing the trick-taking potentialities of his hand:

South now led the heart 7, and West, discarding below the Dummy, was compelled to part with a club. South now led a small club from his hand, won with the Ace in Dummy, returned a club, and thus cashed the last 3 tricks—a correct result from his accurate play of the hand.

Lillian Mae Patterns

Every New Yorker knows that The Algonquin's location makes it easy to reach the leading theatres, shops and other alluring income destroyers. In fact, every step is a step in the right direction when you are at The Algonquin.

When Frank Case first became manager of The Algonquin (long before he became sole owner) an imposing dowager moved in and took a suite on the 8th floor. She evidently liked it because she stayed there twenty-five years. Frank Case and Mrs. Fielding became fast friends. One day a whim suddenly came over her that she would like to see a little more of the world so she decided to move to another hotel. At the end of a week she phoned to say that she liked her new rooms and the changed outlook from her window, but she did miss the furniture, her easy chair, the tea table, her footstool, the bookrack and reading lamp she had hired with so long.

Frank Case rang a bell. "Porter," he said, "get a truck, take all the furniture and pictures out of 811 and send them over to Mrs. Fielding."

In three weeks she was back at The Algonquin.

THE ALGONQUIN is situated at 59 West 44th St., midway between 5th Ave. and Times Square.

"Joy Ride or DEATH RIDE—this 'footprint' may make the difference"

Floyd Gibbons

HELLO everybody, Floyd Gibbons speaking. This ought to be happy vacation time. We'll be tuning up the old bus. We'll ramble. So will 20,000,000 other car owners. Will ours be a Joy Ride—or a Death Ride?

Thirty-four thousand were killed last year in automobile accidents—nearly a million injured. You've seen and heard it all. The scream of brakes in a danger spot. The whine and crunch of skidding tires. The crash of colliding bumpers—front and rear.

Remember! When we're out there on the road, our only contact with this old earth is through the four points where our tires touch the pavement!

Those few square inches of rubber transmit all that tremendous power from beneath our engine hood.

When we slam on the brakes, it's those few square inches of rubber that have to stop the car! Otherwise—BAM! Tragedy.

It's the DESIGN of those few square inches of rubber which determine whether we stop—or skid!

That's responsibility—responsibility that chills us! That's why I'm all steamed up about Goodrich SAFETY Silvertown Tires.

They often represent the difference between a Joy Ride and a Death Ride. I've seen Safety Silvertowns tested. And I can't help believing what I see.

I saw skid tests on wet asphalt roads. Car running 42 miles an hour around a sharp angle. She didn't skid an inch.

That's where the DESIGN of the new Safety Silvertown—the FOOT—

"That's where the design—the FOOT—PRINT of the tire gets in its work. This tread grips all the way across—not only in the center but from broad shoulder to broad shoulder. It hangs on to a slick surface like a fly on a windowpane!"

PRINT of the tire—gets in its work. They've increased the sharp, gripping, skid-fighting edges on this tread 33%!

It hangs on to a slick road surface like a fly on a windowpane!

That's the kind of tire I want to be riding on this vacation trip—but here's the tragic fact:

A SURVEY SHOWS THAT 57% OF THE CARS ON THE ROAD ARE RIDING ON AT LEAST ONE BALD-HEADED, TREACHEROUS TIRE. A DEATH TIRE!

Just one is enough to cause an accident—to turn that joy ride into a death ride! With 34,400 killed last year—almost a million injured—we've had PLENTY of death rides.

I like that name SAFETY Silvertown. I love to ride—but I want to get back home and not in an ambulance.

Another thing—this Safety Silvertown—with the footprint that stamps out death—doesn't cost a cent more than any standard tire. That's a BARGAIN in safety.
